Unit description
This unit aims to introduce students to the theory and practice of Criminology. It will explore definitions of crime, theories of crime and criminality and contemporary issues in criminology. With reference to relevant research and theory the unit aims to give students an appreciation of three broad areas, what is crime? who is a criminal? and the application of contemporary theory to contemporary social issues.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Identify and distinguish between major criminological theories, e.g. strain theory, differential association, biological positivism;
- Research and locate different academic sources and express judgement about their validity;
- Engage in informed criminological discussion with criminology staff and other students;
- Analyse and demonstrate critical understanding of major criminological theories with regard to particular types of criminal offence.

Delivery and Resources

UNIT REQUIREMENTS AND EXPECTATIONS
• You should spend an average of at least 9 hours per week on this unit. This includes listening to pre-recorded lectures prior to tutorial discussions and reading weekly.
required readings detailed in iLearn.

• Internal students are expected to actively participate in tutorials. This involves appropriate preparation before class (i.e. listening to online lecture content and completing required weekly readings). Students should provide relevant document (e.g. a medical certificate) if they miss a tutorial.

• External students are required to contribute to on-line discussions. Further information regarding online discussion requirements are available on iLearn.

REQUIRED READINGS

• The citations for all the required readings for this unit are available to enrolled students students through the unit iLearn site and at Macquarie University's Library EReserve site. Electronic copies of required readings may be accessed at the EReserve site.

• The core text for this unit is Marmo, M, De Lint, W, and Palmer, D (2012) Crime and Justice: A Guide to Criminology, 4th edition, Thomson Reuters. This text is available in the University bookshop.

RECOMMENDED READINGS

• Recommended readings will be posted to the unit iLearn site as Session 1 progresses.

TECHNOLOGY USED AND REQUIRED

• Personal PC and internet access are essential for this unit. Basic computer skills and skills in word processing are also a requirement.

• The unit can only be accessed by enrolled students online through http://ilearn.mq.edu.au

SUBMITTING ASSESSMENT TASKS

• All assessment tasks are to be submitted, marked and returned electronically. This will only happen through the unit iLearn site.

• Assessment tasks must be submitted as a MS word document by the due date.

• All assessment tasks will be subject to a 'TurnitIn' review as an automatic part of the submission process.

• The granting of extensions of up to one week are at the discretion of the unit convenor and tutorial staff. Any requests for extensions must be made in writing before the due date for the submission of the assessment task. Extensions beyond one week are subject to special consideration. The policy for this is detailed under Policy and Procedures.

LATE SUBMISSION OF ASSESSMENT TASKS
All assignments which are received after the due date, and where no extension has been granted by the course convener or tutor, will incur a deduction of 5% for the first day, and 2% for each subsequent day including the day on which the work is received. Weekends and public holidays are included.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION

Students who are prevented from completing any of the work required to complete this unit should report the circumstances via an Application for Special Consideration form to the Registrar’s Office. This letter must be accompanied by a completed Professional Authority Form (http://www.student.mq.edu.au/ses/Special%20Consideration.html) or other proper evidence.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Research and locate different academic sources and express judgement about their validity;
• Analyse and demonstrate critical understanding of major criminological theories with regard to particular types of criminal offence.

Assessment task

• Research Essay

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation’s historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
