<tr>
<td>Lectures and tutorials in this unit are organised around key issues in intercultural communication such as identity, power, globalisation, culture transition, taboo, and intercultural communication problems. Selected readings introduce key theories in the field and identify areas where intercultural communication takes place (business, multicultural communities, politics). In class, we draw upon current affairs in exploring particular settings in which intercultural skills are of vital importance. The unit reader presents a collection of key texts but there is strong emphasis on practical work where strategies of successful intercultural communication in interpersonal and international situations are being assessed.</td>

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://students.mq.edu.au/important-dates

Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate the disciplinary knowledge of the meaning of ‘culture’, and reflect that knowledge in an awareness of students’ own cultural identity and development of intercultural empathy
2. Analyse critically and evaluate the differences in verbal and non-verbal communication styles across cultures

3. Demonstrate a clear understanding and broad knowledge of the key theories, scholars and debates in the field of intercultural communication

4. Identify, interpret and communicate the broad and specific arguments contributing to intercultural knowledge and experience.

5. Apply the theoretical modes of understanding the broad arguments underpinning the key theories, to everyday life

6. Apply intercultural theory and research techniques to specific field work

General Assessment Information

Please note: Dates and times for assignment submission are in the due dates document on ilearn. You essay needs to be uploaded to turnitin as well as handed in as hard copy with signed coversheet to the appropriate box in Y3A (see exact location on ilearn) by the due date. There will be a link where your presentation summaries can be uploaded on ilearn. You can do this until one week after your group presentation. There is no link for your Intercultural Sydney project, you can hand it in directly to me in class on or before the due date. Extensions for any assignment due to serious disruption of study need to be applied for online via student portal.

Late assignments will be penalized 5 percent of the mark for the first day and 2 percent per subsequent day. In cases of illness and misadventure students must submit official documentation including a PAF through disruption to Studies: http://students.mq.edu.au/student_admin/exams/disruption_to_studies/

Group Presentation

Due: TBA
Weighting: 30%

Group Presentation on a subject within our 5 key areas of study (identity, taboo, intercultural competence, power, intercultural conflict) plus short individual summary of your contribution to the presentation (300w). You may refer to the reader in preparation of your group presentation, but you need to consult additional materials. Ideally your presentation (no electronic support) takes no more than 1hr of the tutorial time. Each member of the group may present for 5-7 minutes. Make sure to involve the rest of the class in your presentation; this can be achieved by giving them a task to do in class or by introducing a game. In the written summary, you may want to comment on how your group went about putting the presentation together and anything about the group work that you find interesting, but you also need to include your most important findings and indicate the sources you consulted. Your summary needs to be referenced.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Demonstrate the disciplinary knowledge of the meaning of ‘culture’, and reflect that knowledge in an awareness of students' own cultural identity and development of intercultural empathy

• Analyse critically and evaluate the differences in verbal and non-verbal communication styles across cultures
• Demonstrate a clear understanding and broad knowledge of the key theories, scholars and debates in the field of intercultural communication
• Apply intercultural theory and research techniques to specific field work

Participation

Due: Ongoing
Weighting: 10%

Participation in tutorials is compulsory. You also need to attend lectures regularly, it will affect your participation mark if you do not attend lectures.

Criteria: students need to regularly attend lectures and tutorials (80% each), complete essential readings for each week as outlined in the reader and add to group discussions during tutorials.

Intercultural Sydney

Due: Week 12
Weighting: 25%

In groups of 2 or 3, find a situation where intercultural communication takes place and show how it is used. You may analyse a website that promotes a language institute, look at the promotion of an intercultural event, compare Sydney suburbs, analyse multicultural events organised by the council, or choose to analyse intercultural communication in a company. You may want to pick an intercultural event and attend it yourselves, and interview others who also visit the event. In the end, connect your findings to a theoretical framework we have discussed in class. Your summary needs to reflect your research method and has to be referenced. Note: you need to inform me about the nature of your project in advance because you may need information and consent forms approved by the university’s ethics committee. Put your findings into a short paper (there is no word limit, usually students write around 1,500 words for a group of 3).

Delivery and Resources

Lecture: Wednesday 11.00-12.00 E5A160

Tutorial: Wednesday 12.00-1.30 Soft room (C4A 407)

Tutorial: Wednesday 2.00-3.30 Soft room (C4A 407)

Students are required to log onto ilearn at least once a week. This is where information is shared, links to readings are provided, updates given. Please get the prescribed textbook (Jackson, Jane, 2014. Introducing Language and Intercultural Communication. London, New York: Routledge.) from the coop and read the relevant chapters before each tutorial.

Unit Schedule

Essential readings for this unit:

| Week 1 | Introduction: In this session we will look at the course outline and make final adjustments according to students’ input. Subjects for group presentations will be introduced so that you can think about which topic you would like to work on. |
| Week 2 | Definitions of culture, communication and intercultural communication. We will explore different theories in intercultural communication and assess their usefulness in intercultural settings. |
| Week 3 | Emotional Intelligence and intercultural friendship. Our focus is on the meaning of “friendship” and the opportunities and challenges of intercultural relationships. Read the additional article on the world of ‘smell cultures’! |
| Week 4 | Identity
Identity is one of the key issues in this course. This week we will discuss different concepts of identity and identity changes in a global setting. Identity group presents |
| Week 5 | Identity and social cognition
Continuing with our work on identity, we will study social cognitive processes. |
| Week 6 | Cultural transition and Global Citizenship
This week is dedicated to topics around cultural transition. We will examine the factors that contribute to culture shock and identify strategies that may facilitate moving from one culture to another. Is global citizenship a theoretical concept or a viable way of life? Revision of ‘cultural intelligence’ and ‘intercultural competence’. Transition group presents |
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Week</th>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Details</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 7    | Taboo and censorship                      | In intercultural communication, the knowledge about taboo areas and about how to handle taboo breaches is vital. This week we will identify general and culture-specific taboos and concentrate on language and taboo. Read the additional article on taboo.
Taboo group presents |
| 8    | Verbal and nonverbal codes                | In this session we focus on cultural differences and how they are exemplified in verbal and nonverbal communication. |
| 9    | Coding class race and gender              | Continuing with ‘codes’ we look at how language register or clothing may be indicative of class, race and gender.
Essay due this Wed |
| 10   | The notion of power                       | Power structures are yet another central issue in intercultural communication. We will examine concepts of power and the role power structures play in various intercultural settings.
Power group presents |
| 11   | Conflict and communication                | This week is dedicated to clashes between different approaches. Conflict that is based on cultural differences can be solved via effective communication.
Conflict group presents |
| 12   | Intercultural Communication in the workplace | In business situations it is important to be prepared for culture-related clashes and to be able to arrive at a level of mutual understanding.
Intercultural Sydney due this Wed |
| 13   | Global culture/ global citizenship        | In our last session we will discuss and evaluate Intercultural Sydney experiences.                  |

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Analyse critically and evaluate the differences in verbal and non-verbal communication styles across cultures
• Identify, interpret and communicate the broad and specific arguments contributing to intercultural knowledge and experience.

Assessment tasks

• Group Presentation
• Essay

PG - Research and Problem Solving Capability

Our postgraduates will be capable of systematic enquiry; able to use research skills to create new knowledge that can be applied to real world issues, or contribute to a field of study or practice to enhance society. They will be capable of creative questioning, problem finding and problem solving.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse critically and evaluate the differences in verbal and non-verbal communication styles across cultures
- Demonstrate a clear understanding and broad knowledge of the key theories, scholars and debates in the field of intercultural communication
- Apply intercultural theory and research techniques to specific field work

Assessment tasks

- Essay
- Intercultural Sydney

PG - Effective Communication

Our postgraduates will be able to communicate effectively and convey their views to different social, cultural, and professional audiences. They will be able to use a variety of technologically supported media to communicate with empathy using a range of written, spoken or visual formats.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate the disciplinary knowledge of the meaning of ‘culture’, and reflect that knowledge in an awareness of students' own cultural identity and development of intercultural empathy
- Identify, interpret and communicate the broad and specific arguments contributing to intercultural knowledge and experience.
- Apply the theoretical modes of understanding the broad arguments underpinning the key theories, to everyday life

Assessment tasks

- Participation
- Intercultural Sydney

PG - Engaged and Responsible, Active and Ethical Citizens

Our postgraduates will be ethically aware and capable of confident transformative action in relation to their professional responsibilities and the wider community. They will have a sense of connectedness with others and country and have a sense of mutual obligation. They will be able to appreciate the impact of their professional roles for social justice and inclusion related to national and global issues

- Apply the theoretical modes of understanding the broad arguments underpinning the key theories, to everyday life
- Apply intercultural theory and research techniques to specific field work

Assessment task

- Intercultural Sydney

Changes from Previous Offering

Taking student feedback into account, the extended essay will now count 35% towards the final mark (not 40%) and the research project Intercultural Sydney will count 25% instead of 20%. To ensure that all students know what is expected, one of the early tutorials will be dedicated to research approaches, online surveys and interview techniques as well as appropriate display of results.
