Unit description
In this unit you will consider migration from a global perspective. You will focus on the way that population movements are shaped by global economic and political changes, as well as the impact of population movements on international and national politics. You will be introduced to the most vital practices and politics related to international migration and settlement. You will also analyse some of the key literature associated with the sociology of international migration.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Be able to discuss some of the characteristics of migratory flows around the world, as well as in the Australian context
- Recognise the contribution of a range of sociological perspectives to debates concerning international migration
- Be familiar with the concepts of migration, diaspora, transnationalism, nation, ethnicity, multiculturalism, citizenship, and racism
Demonstrate knowledge of a number of influential debates concerning migrants and migration, and multiculturalism
Provide constructive input into the presentations of others
Be able to source and engage with quality news coverage and opinion pieces.

Tutorial Powepoint

Due: Assigned
Weighting: 25%

Tutorial PowerPoint Presentation

In the first week of online tutorials, students must select a topic (from weeks 3 to 12) and prepare a POWERPOINT presentation of at least 5 and no more than 10 slides.

- PowerPoint presentation should include a reflection on the required weekly reading highlighting the issues and arguments raised in it.
- Presentations must link the reading to recent events or examples (in Australia or elsewhere), and you are encouraged to engage respected news sources, blogs, and images where possible.
- This will require some further research into the phenomena raised in the reading.
- You are encouraged to include graphs, tables, and images in your presentation to illustrate your points.
- You will be expected to pose a question to the online discussion forum for that week’s topic and participate in the thread.

You must choose a DIFFERENT topic to that chosen for your Media Commentary Portfolio.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Be able to discuss some of the characteristics of migratory flows around the world, as well as in the Australian context
• Recognise the contribution of a range of sociological perspectives to debates concerning international migration
• Be familiar with the concepts of migration, diaspora, transnationalism, nation, ethnicity, multiculturalism, citizenship, and racism
• Demonstrate knowledge of a number of influential debates concerning migrants and migration, and multiculturalism
• Provide constructive input into the presentations of others
• Be able to source and engage with quality news coverage and opinion pieces.

Media Commentary Portfolio
Due: Week 8 - Monday 2nd May 5pm
Weighting: 25%

You are asked to choose ONLY one topic from either:

Media Topic 1: (Week 5: Immigration Controls, Asylum seekers, Refugees);
Media Topic 2: (Week 9: Managing Diversity: Multiculturalism, Assimilation, Social Cohesion), or;
Media Topic 3: (Week 12: Racism, Everyday Racism, Antiracism)

You must choose a DIFFERENT topic to your Tutorial Powerpoint Presentation.

Students are required to research quality news and opinion sources (Australian and international) and compile a portfolio of reporting and opinion commentary on the topic. The portfolio must include at least three (and no more than five) pieces. You are asked to provide a 500 word reflection on these materials. The aim of the exercise is to learn where to seek out informed news reporting and opinion commentary on important social issues. Sources should include quality news sources and QUALITY, well informed opinion pieces published in newspapers, blogs, or magazines covering social issues.

Following your reflection you must include a full reference with title, source, and link to the source.

These are to be submitted through Turnitin in Week 8 (Monday 2nd May by 5pm.)

A list potential sources will be provided in Week 2 as a guide to get you started.

On successful completion you will be able to:
• Be able to source and engage with quality news coverage and opinion pieces.

Research Essay
Due: Week 12 - Friday 3rd June 5pm
Weighting: 30%
Only use references from the course reader or relevant migration studies journals and books. Only official internet sources can be cited. A minimum of 8 references should be used.

Submit through turnitin. Use HARVARD referencing. Double space.

Answer one question:

Option 1:

Why do migrants maintain persistent ties with their homeland and how are nation-states and migrant identities shaped by such processes? Draw on relevant readings in your discussion.

Option 2:

The problem of unauthorised boat arrivals and asylum seekers is a divisive and bitterly debated issue in Australia. For this research essay, you are asked to conduct an informal interview with 2 or 3 people (e.g., a friend or family member) to gain their perspectives on this issue. Using the interview material and relevant readings discuss the concerns of Australians on this matter.

Option 3:

It is now 10 years since the Cronulla Riots. In the aftermath of the Riots in 2005, then Prime Minister John Howard condemned the attacks but insisted that there is no underlying racism in Australia. Is racism still an important issue to talk about today? Draw on relevant readings in your discussion.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Be able to discuss some of the characteristics of migratory flows around the world, as well as in the Australian context
- Recognise the contribution of a range of sociological perspectives to debates concerning international migration
- Be familiar with the concepts of migration, diaspora, transnationalism, nation, ethnicity, multiculturalism, citizenship, and racism
- Demonstrate knowledge of a number of influential debates concerning migrants and migration, and multiculturalism

Online Participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 20%

External students are expected to participate in a weekly online discussion via ilearn.

You must enter a minimum of ONE posting PER WEEK of 150 words. The entry should contain two components:

1. a reflection on the readings and issues covered in the lectures;
2. and raise one question from the material that could facilitate further online discussion.

Aside from this required post, you are also encouraged to respond to comments posted by fellow students on the discussion board. This exercise will be graded according to the number of responses, as well as the quality of the reflections that you are able to make on the readings in the course outline (at the very least, your reflection needs to exhibit having read the material and are connecting it to course concerns). Do not be so worried about ‘right’ or ‘wrong’ answers – this is the space for you to discuss with your peers any questions about the material. Be mindful and respectful of others and observe netiquette.

The Online discussion will commence from Week 3 and end in Week 12. You are expected to respond to at least 80% of the course materials and your weekly post must be submitted at the end of every week by Friday, 5pm. LATE POSTS WILL NOT BE GRADED and receive a 0 unless a medical certificate is provided. The tutor will monitor the online discussion and contribute comments where needed but the aim of the forums is to give you the opportunity to engage with your peers in the readings and lecture material. There will be 2 rounds of feedback for the online posts: Week 4 (you will be given brief written feedback to ensure you are on the right track with the task) and Week 13 (no written feedback, final grade only).

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Be able to discuss some of the characteristics of migratory flows around the world, as well as in the Australian context
- Recognise the contribution of a range of sociological perspectives to debates concerning international migration
- Be familiar with the concepts of migration, diaspora, transnationalism, nation, ethnicity, multiculturalism, citizenship, and racism
- Demonstrate knowledge of a number of influential debates concerning migrants and migration, and multiculturalism
- Provide constructive input into the presentations of others
- Be able to source and engage with quality news coverage and opinion pieces.

Delivery and Resources

You are required to listen to a 2 hour lecture every week (and view the powerpoint slides) and this will be monitored. You are also required to participate in the online external student discussion forum contributing a minimum of one post per week of no less than 150 words. This is compulsory and forms part of your Participation grade (20%). Absences will only be excused with a valid medical certificate.

This unit has an online presence via ilearn and requires the student have access to a computer and reliable internet connection. Announcements will be made in lectures, tutorials and on ilearn. Lecture recordings and slides, and extra reading material are made available on ilearn.
Required readings will be available on ilearn. Further readings are made available in Reserve in the library (books and book chapters) or are accessible in the journals database (if it is a journal article).

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Be able to discuss some of the characteristics of migratory flows around the world, as well as in the Australian context
