In MAS304 it's important to understand key debates, theoretical positions and concepts in the study of science fiction genre cinema.

To do this we have divided weekly readings into two categories: required readings and recommended readings

Required readings are those texts that offer a critical analysis and/or interpretation of a film and/or discuss critical ideas and concepts specific to science fiction and cinema and while they may not discuss the films in the unit directly they are of central importance to understanding the genre.

Recommended readings are texts that support and expand the context of the films, their critical reception and place in genre history, and include interviews, scene analysis, reviews etc.

*To assess your understanding and reading of required readings, and your understanding of lecture content, you will undertake three online multiple choice quizzes accessed via iLearn. These are worth 15% of your total mark each, 45% in total.

The questions will be based on critical and core readings and on lecture content and they will be scheduled in weeks four, eight and 12 of the semester.

Students will be notified by a unit announcement on iLearn when the quizzes are available for completion.

Marking Criteria

- Ability to recognise the correct answer[s] to quiz questions
- Demonstrated understanding and comprehension of unit readings and lecture content

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand the main debates relevant to a specific sub-region of film studies
- Develop an expanded historical knowledge of genre film and theory
- Develop skills in film-critical research and film-textual analysis
Major Essay

Due: November 2, 2016
Weighting: 55%

Your final assignment will be an Academic Essay:

You will be required to write an essay of 2,000 words [not including footnotes or bibliography] that responds to the following task:

Choosing one film from the unit, give a critical account of the film's key themes, its concepts and ideas and how these aspects are conveyed by the film itself, with reference to its mise en scene, narrative structure, and place within genre theory.

Your essay will demonstrate an understanding of one or more of the central concepts from the unit, as well as your ability to apply these concepts to the film you have researched and to films included in the unit schedule, while referencing at least four of the required unit readings, and three academic readings from outside it. [Non-academic citations are not acceptable].

Your essay will be referenced using the Harvard Inline Referencing System and will include a list of referenced works on the last page of the essay. [References cited will only be those cited in the text of your essay]. The essay should include your name and student number on the top of the first page, be double line spaced and justified to the left hand side of the page.

Please submit your essay to Turnitin via the link on the unit iLearn page by 11.58pm on the due date.

Marking Criteria

• Evidence of a depth of research and reading
• Demonstration of further research beyond unit readings
• Demonstrate critical engagement with central concepts and theory of the course and be able to apply these to your film example[s].
• Present a clearly structured essay and well-supported argument
• Ability to contextualise the film as part of film history
• Ability to relate the film to one (or more) of the concepts evident in the core readings
• The use of academic Harvard inline referencing

On successful completion you will be able to:

• Understand the main debates relevant to a specific sub-region of film studies
• Develop an expanded historical knowledge of genre film and theory
• Develop skills in film-critical research and film-textual analysis
• Evaluate and appreciate different stylistic modes of writing about films
• Produce and communicate work in a manner consistent with accepted academic standards

TECHNOLOGIES USED AND REQUIRED

Unit lectures will be delivered as videos online and will be accessible via iLearn. Details on readings, assessments and screenings will be available on iLearn. Students are expected to regularly check iLearn and their MQ email addresses for announcements.

Late Submissions

Tasks 10% or less. No extensions will be granted. Students who have not submitted the task prior to the deadline will be awarded a mark of 0 for the task, except for cases in which an application for Disruption to Studies is made and approved.

Tasks above 10%. Students who submit late work without an extension will receive a penalty of 10% per day. This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for Disruption to Studies is made and approved.

SUBMISSIONS

All written work must be submitted to Turnitin, via the link on iLearn. Please make sure your full name, student number and tutor’s name appears on the first page of your document. All written work should be double spaced and justified to the left of the page.

Please record your tutor’s email address at the beginning of semester and questions about MAS 304 should first be directed to the unit convenor.

Students should ensure that they can receive emails sent to their MQ email address.

Unit Schedule

CONTENT ADVISORY

Please be advised: some of the films in the unit contain graphic on-screen violence, suggested off screen violence and disturbing themes. Although the films are widely available on DVD and online - and have been screened in Australian cinemas and on television - some viewers may find aspects of these films disturbing.

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Understand the main debates relevant to a specific sub-region of film studies
• Develop an expanded historical knowledge of genre film and theory
• Develop skills in film-critical research and film-textual analysis
• Evaluate and appreciate different stylistic modes of writing about films

Assessment tasks

Problem Solving and Research Capability
Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes
• Understand the main debates relevant to a specific sub-region of film studies
• Develop an expanded historical knowledge of genre film and theory
• Develop skills in film-critical research and film-textual analysis
• Evaluate and appreciate different stylistic modes of writing about films

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

Changes from Previous Offering

The unit has been developed to reflect a new course focus: the evolution of science fiction genre cinema since 1950, with reference to the critical study of genre theory and its relationship to films included in the unit, the study of mise-en-scene, and to a consideration of the modes of mainstream and independent film production. New course readings have been developed to reflect this focus. Assessment tasks have also been simplified to online quizzes and a final assignment.
