POL 392
United States Politics: Money, Culture, Power
S1 External 2016
Dept of Modern History, Politics & International Relations

Contents

General Information 2
Learning Outcomes 2
Assessment Tasks 3
Delivery and Resources 5
Unit Schedule 10
Policies and Procedures 11
Graduate Capabilities 12

Disclaimer
Macquarie University has taken all reasonable measures to ensure the information in this publication is accurate and up-to-date. However, the information may change or become out-dated as a result of change in University policies, procedures or rules. The University reserves the right to make changes to any information in this publication without notice. Users of this publication are advised to check the website version of this publication [or the relevant faculty or department] before acting on any information in this publication.
General Information

Unit convenor and teaching staff
Unit Convenor, Lecturer and tutor
Lloyd Cox
lloyd.cox@mq.edu.au
Contact via Email
W6A Room 423
Tuesday 10-12

Lorna Barrow
lorna.barrow@mq.edu.au

Credit points
3

Prerequisites
39cp or (6cp in HIST or MHIS or POL units at 200 level including 3cp in POL)

Corequisites

Co-badged status

Unit description
US politics is today, as in much of its past, dominated by money and the power that money can buy. US cultural life is also preoccupied with money, in ways that profoundly affect the distribution of political power. Proceeding from these premises, this unit explores the relationship between money, culture and power in contemporary US politics. Topics covered include campaign financing, interest groups and the media; the impact of social inequalities of class, race, gender and sexual preference on US politics; the role of religion and political parties in the formulation of dominant political ideas; and the politics surrounding the global financial crisis and its aftermath.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://students.mq.edu.au/important-dates

Learning Outcomes

1. By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form
2. You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
3. You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency
4. You will be able to articulate your knowledge of US politics in group discussions
5. You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment Tasks

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Weighting</th>
<th>Due</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Assessment One</td>
<td>20%</td>
<td>Friday 1/04/2016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assessment Two</td>
<td>40%</td>
<td>Friday, 6/05/2016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assessment Three</td>
<td>10%</td>
<td>All year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assessment four</td>
<td>30%</td>
<td>Monday, 13/06/2016</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Assessment One

Due: Friday 1/04/2016
Weighting: 20%

Students will write a short, 1000 word essay from topics that will be put on iLearn in the first week of the course. Students should submit their essays in electronic form directly to me at lloyd.cox@mq.edu.au. The file should be labeled with your family name, 1st essay. Essays should be submitted by close of business hours.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:
• You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
• You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency
• You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment Two

Due: Friday, 6/05/2016
Weighting: 40%

This is a 2000 word essay +/- 10%, with topics drawn from across the unit. To give students plenty of time to think about and prepare their essays, the list of topics will be placed on iLearn in week two of the unit. Extensions will only be granted under the most exceptional of circumstances, and all late work will be penalised at the rate of 1 mark out of 40 for each day late. Students should submit their essay in electronic form directly to me at lloyd.cox@mq.edu.au. The file should be labelled with your family name, 2nd essay. Essays should be submitted by the close of business hours.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form
- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
- You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment Three

Due: All year
Weighting: 10%

These marks are for participation on the ilearn discussion board. Students should contribute to the discussion board at least once per week. This will get you thinking more deeply about the issues, as well as giving you an opportunity to communicate and debate with the other external students. I will assign the grades based on the regularity of your participation and the quality of your contributions.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
- You will be able to articulate your knowledge of US politics in group discussions
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment four

Due: Monday, 13/06/2016
Weighting: 30%

The final exam for external students will consist of 3 short 800 word essays, to be completed over the weekend of 10-13 June. Students must do topics other than those they have done for the first and second piece of assessment. I will put the topics on ilearn at Midday on Friday 10 June. Students are to return the essays to me at lloyd.cox@mq.edu.au in one file at, labelled
This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form.
- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form.
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics.

Delivery and Resources

United States Politics: Money, Culture, Power - POL392

Welcome to United States Politics: Money, Culture, Power. US politics is today, as in much of its past, dominated by money and the power that money can buy. US cultural life is also preoccupied with money, in ways that profoundly affect the distribution of political power. Proceeding from these premises, this unit explores the relationship between money, culture and power in contemporary US politics, paying particular attention this year’s Presidential election. Additional topics covered include campaign financing, interest groups and the media; the impact of social inequalities of class, race, gender and sexual preference on US politics; the role of religion and political parties in the formulation of dominant political ideas; and the politics surrounding the global financial crisis and its aftermath. These topics will be covered in a weekly two hour lecture, and on the ilearn discussion board.

You will enhance your prospects of doing well in this unit by:

- listening to all lectures attentively while note taking
- regularly contributing to the discussion board and engaging with other students’ contributions
- doing all the required reading and at least some of the supplementary reading (while also taking notes from these readings)
- regularly reading US news and media sources
- Conscientiously preparing for each assessment task

All students must get a copy of this text, which is available from the Macquarie University bookshop. In addition, supplementary readings and links to readings will be provided each week on the ilearn site. Naturally, students are also encouraged to do their own self-directed reading. The more you read, the more you will get out of this unit.
Lecture Outlines and Required Reading

Week One: Introduction: Money, Culture, Power and US Exceptionalism
McKay, Chapters 1 & 2
An enduring feature of American political life is the belief in US exceptionalism – the idea that the United States is a unique polity that embodies liberty and democracy in a way that is or should be a beacon for the rest of the world. In this week, we explore the origins of American exceptionalism, and discuss the ways in which it relates to the organizing themes of this unit - money, culture, power.

Week Two: The American Constitution, Federalism and Privilege
McKay, Chapters 3 & 4
The American Constitution is frequently held up as a hallowed document and one of the keys to American success over the past two centuries. Yet on closer examination it is clear that the Constitution still reflects its 18th century origins in advancing the interests of a very narrow strata of colonial society. In this lecture we examine both the history of the American Constitution and discuss some of its key clauses, with a particular focus on federalism. Students should have closely read the Constitution (a copy of which can be found in the back of their textbook) before this class.

Week Three: Two Parties, One Culture?
McKay, Chapter 5
The American two Party system emerged in the nineteenth century, and endures to this day, though in a very different form. We here discuss the emergence of both the Democratic and the Republican Parties, and look both at the ways that they have changed and the ways that their key constituencies have changed. We end by examining the nature of the two main parties today, and consider the challenges that they face at the upcoming 2016 Presidential and congressional elections. We will be particularly interested in the regularly expressed notion that, despite their differences, both parties ultimately represent the interests of corporate America.

Week Four: Money, Elections and Political Participation
McKay, Chapter 6
For outsiders, the nature of the US federal electoral system can be very confusing. This lecture seeks to systematically demystify the US electoral system. As well as outlining the mechanics of electoral processes for Congress and for the Presidency, we will discuss the key issues confronting the American electoral system today. In particular, we will focus on the vexed question of money in US politics and electoral funding. Can elections and political office be bought?
Week Five. Easter holiday

Because of Easter Monday there will be no lecture on this day.

Week Six: Congress and Lobbying

McKay, Chapters 8 & 9

The US congress is composed of the House of Representatives and the US Senate. Their respective roles, rights and obligations are outlined in the US Constitution, though in practices these have shifted over time. We discuss these changes, and also examine the extremely important role of lobbying in shaping final legislative outcome. Finally, we begin exploring the vexed issue of the relationship between Congress and the President, using contemporary examples to illustrate some of the key issues, as an entree into the next lecture.

Week Seven: ANZAC day

Because of ANZAC Day, there will be no lecture on this day.

Week Eight: The Supreme Court and Judicial Politics

McKay, Chapter 15

This week we examine the third pillar of the US system of government – the Supreme Court. In addition to identifying the formal reach of its jurisdiction, we focus on the ways in which the Court has become, or in fact has always been, politicized. We will do this through a closer consideration of some key cases over which the Court has presided, which illustrate the interlocking and mutually constitutive nature of legal authority and political power. We finish by considering the impact that the death of Conservative Supreme Court Judge Antonin Scalia will have on the Court.

Week Nine: Interest Groups

McKay, Chapter 14

Politically organized interest groups have a profound influence on the political process in the United States. They are often political agenda-setters, and are often able to bring considerable political pressure to bear on individual politicians (particularly in Congress), in order to realize political outcomes that are advantageous to their constituencies. We explore the nature of political influence in US politics, and illustrate this by considering the role of some key interest groups, including the National Rifle Association (NRA).

Week Ten: The Religious Right and the Politics of Faith
McKay, Chapter 16

Despite the formal, constitutional separation between church and state in the US, religion plays a more important role in US politics than in any other comparable western state. We explore why this is and analyse how it is manifested. We pay particular attention to the influence that the Religious Right has exercised over the contemporary Republican Party.

Week Eleven: Race, Culture, Power

Reading TBA (will be placed on ILearn)

Race and ethnicity have been and remain tremendously important in US political life, as the 2014 killing of and reaction to the police killing of a black teenager in Missouri poignantly demonstrate. The legacies of racially based slavery continue to be felt in the US to this day, while successive waves of immigration have made the US one of the most ethnically diverse societies on earth. Taken together, this has shaped US politics in very important ways. We discuss this, paying particular attention to the growing importance of Latino voters in US political life.

Week Twelve: Social Policy and Welfare

McKay, Chapter 17

The United States has never had a developed welfare state in the way that Western Europe, Scandinavia, Australia and New Zealand have. The ideology of small government and individual self-reliance retain their overwhelming popular support, which therefore constitutes significant obstacles to the development of welfare initiatives by both federal and state governments. We here examine the politics of welfare in the United States.

Week Thirteen: US Politics in the Wake of the GFC

McKay, Chapter 18

The global financial crisis of 2008/09, whose effects continue to play themselves out today, represented something of a watershed in American economics and politics. It throws light on many problematic features of US capitalism, and the political institutions that help sustain it. We here use the GFC as a way to help understand some of these issues surrounding US political-economy, before tying the thread of the overall course together in our conclusion.

Beyond the required and recommended reading, students will also find the following resources useful.

Useful Journals
• Political Science Quarterly
• The Nation
• Presidential Studies Quarterly
• American Historical Review
• American Political Science Review
• American Journal of Political Science
• Diplomatic History
• Foreign Affairs
• Foreign Policy
• International Organization
• International Security
• International Studies Quarterly
• International Studies Review
• Journal of Cold War History
• Journal of Conflict Resolution
• Journal of Politics
• Millennium
• Security Studies
• Survival
• The National Interest
• World Politics

Useful Websites

• http://www.census.gov/
• http://www.gallup.com/home.aspx
• http://www.electionstudies.org/
• http://international.nytimes.com/
• http://www.washingtonpost.com/
• Http://meria.biu.ac.il/research-g/us-policy.html [Internet Resources on American Foreign Policy]
Unit Schedule

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Week</th>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Lecture</th>
<th>Tutorial</th>
<th>Assessment</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>29 Feb</td>
<td>Money, Culture, Power and US Exceptionalism</td>
<td>American exceptionalism, liberalism, capitalism, religion</td>
<td>None</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>7 March</td>
<td>The American Constitution, Federalism and Privilege</td>
<td>Republicanism, Federalism, Branches of Government, Separation of Church and State</td>
<td>None</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>14 March</td>
<td>Two Parties, One Culture?</td>
<td>Democratic and Republican Party: Why no Labor Party?</td>
<td>None</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>21 March</td>
<td>Money, Elections and Political Participation</td>
<td>Democracy, electoral system and campaign financing</td>
<td>None</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>28 March</td>
<td>Easter Monday, no lecture</td>
<td>Easter Monday, no lecture</td>
<td>First Essay due on Friday, 1 April</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>4 April</td>
<td>Congress and Lobbying</td>
<td>Congress as legislator and policy maker; divided government; role of lobbyists on Capitol Hill</td>
<td>None</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>25 April</td>
<td>ANZAC Day, no lecture</td>
<td>ANZAC Day, no lecture</td>
<td>None</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>2 May</td>
<td>The Supreme Court and Judicial Politics</td>
<td>Judicial politics and judicial activism; Brown versus Board of Educaiton; Roe Versus Wade</td>
<td>Major Essay due, Friday 6 May</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Date</td>
<td>Day</td>
<td>Topic</td>
<td>Key Points</td>
<td>Actions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------</td>
<td>-----</td>
<td>-------</td>
<td>------------</td>
<td>---------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9 May</td>
<td>Interest Groups</td>
<td>Domestic and foreign policy lobbies; political action committees; the national Rifle Association</td>
<td>None</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16 May</td>
<td>The Religious Right and the Politics of Faith</td>
<td>A Protestant Nation? The Religious Right and Power; Regulating public and private morality</td>
<td>None</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23 May</td>
<td>Race, Culture, Power</td>
<td>Police racial profiling; legacy of slavery and civil rights struggle; immigration and the rise of latino power</td>
<td>None</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30 May</td>
<td>Social Policy and Welfare</td>
<td>The ideology of self-reliance and small government; the politics of social security; “welfare mothers”</td>
<td>None</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6 June</td>
<td>US Politics in the Wake of the GFC</td>
<td>Global financial crisis; regulating Wall Street; the power of capital</td>
<td>None</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central. Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:

In addition, a number of other policies can be found in the Learning and Teaching Category of Policy Central.

Student Code of Conduct

Macquarie University students have a responsibility to be familiar with the Student Code of Conduct: https://students.mq.edu.au/support/student_conduct/

Results

Results shown in iLearn, or released directly by your Unit Convenor, are not confirmed as they are subject to final approval by the University. Once approved, final results will be sent to your student email address and will be made available in eStudent. For more information visit ask.mq.edu.au.
Student Support

Macquarie University provides a range of support services for students. For details, visit http://students.mq.edu.au/support/

Learning Skills

Learning Skills (mq.edu.au/learningskills) provides academic writing resources and study strategies to improve your marks and take control of your study.

- Workshops
- StudyWise
- Academic Integrity Module for Students
- Ask a Learning Adviser

Student Enquiry Service

For all student enquiries, visit Student Connect at ask.mq.edu.au

Equity Support

Students with a disability are encouraged to contact the Disability Service who can provide appropriate help with any issues that arise during their studies.

IT Help

For help with University computer systems and technology, visit http://www.mq.edu.au/about_us/offices_and_units/information_technology/help/.

When using the University’s IT, you must adhere to the Acceptable Use of IT Resources Policy. The policy applies to all who connect to the MQ network including students.

Graduate Capabilities

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form
- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political
You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency.

- You will be able to articulate your knowledge of US politics in group discussions.
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics.

Assessment tasks

- Assessment One
- Assessment Two
- Assessment Three
- Assessment four

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form.
- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form.
- You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency.
- You will be able to articulate your knowledge of US politics in group discussions.
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics.

Assessment tasks

- Assessment One
- Assessment Two
- Assessment Three
- Assessment four
Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- You will be able to articulate your knowledge of US politics in group discussions
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment task

- Assessment Two

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form
- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
- You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment tasks

- Assessment One
- Assessment Two
- Assessment Three
Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form
- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
- You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency
- You will be able to articulate your knowledge of US politics in group discussions
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment tasks

- Assessment One
- Assessment Two
- Assessment Three
- Assessment four

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- By the end of this unit you will be able to analyse and interpret primary and secondary US political sources and present the information in a written form
- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
• You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency
• You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment tasks

• Assessment Two
• Assessment Three
• Assessment four

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

• You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment task

• Assessment Two

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

• You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment task

• Assessment Two

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- You will be able to distinguish between competing interpretations of key US political issues, and succinctly express the strengths and weaknesses of these interpretations in written and oral form
- You will be able to explain the main features of US political institutions such as the Constitution, Federalism, Congress and the Presidency
- You will understand the articulation between money, culture and power in US politics

Assessment tasks

- Assessment Two
- Assessment four