Unit description
This unit provides strong methodological and conceptual foundations for professional practice in social impact assessment (SIA) in urban planning and development. It covers SIA in New South Wales and Australia and considers international examples. It also offers a foundation for applied social and environment studies to students from other areas.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://students.mq.edu.au/important-dates

Learning Outcomes

1. 1 To develop a critical literacy and some practical skills in the field of social impact assessment relevant to urban and regional planning and related applications
2. 2 To develop knowledge and understanding of Urban SIA as a field of practice on contemporary urban and regional planning

3. 3 To develop skills in identifying and using data relevant to SIA in urban and regional planning

4. 4 To demonstrate research and written communication skills

5. 5 To increase students' understanding of and sensitivity to social issues in urban and regional planning

General Assessment Information

There are three assignments for this course. A student must submit all three assignments in order to pass the course.

Each assignment has a strict word limit the aim of which is to encourage concise and clear expression which is needed in most professional situations.

Detailed information about each assignment, including guidance and assessment criteria will be available to students in the Unit Guide on iLearn
