Unit description
This unit explores multimodality – the role of images and their interaction with language and other modes of communication – in early childhood. The initial focus is on visual representations of children and childhood in advertising, marketing and popular culture. This equips students with a variety of critical concepts and provides a context for analysing relations between different modes in multimodal texts and environments for children, including interactive and traditional picture books, e-games, websites, apps, toys and toy stores, educational policy documents, museums, and early childhood settings.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Use a metalanguage for discussing how images construct meanings and operate in different social and cultural contexts
Develop a metalanguage for discussing how images interact with language and other modes of communication
Evaluate how multimodal texts and environments for children support learning and literacy development

Develop a strong understanding of how to promote the development of critical visual and multimodal literacy in children from diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds through multimodal texts and environments

Demonstrate an understanding of recent research literature on visual communication, multimodality and multimodal learning and literacy

Reflect on one’s own visual and critical multimodal literacy, and draw on these reflections to improve one’s academic and professional communication skills

Assignment 1

Due: 4 April 2016
Weighting: 20%

Critical comparison of images of children and childhood

Analyse 2 advertisements showing images of children and/or advertising products for children. Using this analysis, discuss what ideas about children and childhood are conveyed and how these ideas function in the social context to which the images belong.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Use a metalanguage for discussing how images construct meanings and operate in different social and cultural contexts
- Demonstrate an understanding of recent research literature on visual communication, multimodality and multimodal learning and literacy
- Reflect on one’s own visual and critical multimodal literacy, and draw on these reflections to improve one’s academic and professional communication skills

Assignment 2
Due: 2 May 2016
Weighting: 40%

Analyzing visual-visual and visual-verbal relations in picture books

Analyse how relations between images and between language and images in two picture books present different ideas about children and childhood and engage their readers.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Develop a metalanguage for discussing how images interact with language and other modes of communication
- Evaluate how multimodal texts and environments for children support learning and literacy development
- Demonstrate an understanding of recent research literature on visual communication, multimodality and multimodal learning and literacy
- Reflect on one’s own visual and critical multimodal literacy, and draw on these reflections to improve one’s academic and professional communication skills

Assignment 3
Due: 16 June 2016
Weighting: 30%

Evaluating toys and/or picture book apps and/or multimodal environments for children

Analyse a selection of toys, a hypermedia or physical environment designed for children and evaluate the ideas about childhood it reflects and its potential to support children’s learning. Then provide recommendations for the design and use of this environment.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Evaluate how multimodal texts and environments for children support learning and literacy development
- Develop a strong understanding of how to promote the development of critical visual and multimodal literacy in children from diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds through multimodal texts and environments
- Demonstrate an understanding of recent research literature on visual communication, multimodality and multimodal learning and literacy

Assignment 4
Due: fortnightly
On successful completion you will be able to:

- Use a metalanguage for discussing how images construct meanings and operate in different social and cultural contexts
- Develop a metalanguage for discussing how images interact with language and other modes of communication
- Evaluate how multimodal texts and environments for children support learning and literacy development
- Develop a strong understanding of how to promote the development of critical visual and multimodal literacy in children from diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds through multimodal texts and environments
- Demonstrate an understanding of recent research literature on visual communication, multimodality and multimodal learning and literacy
- Reflect on one's own visual and critical multimodal literacy, and draw on these reflections to improve one's academic and professional communication skills

Delivery and Resources

Study commitment

As this is a 4 credit point unit, it is estimated that students will need to spend an average of 12 hours a week over a 15 week semester (this includes the university recess), i.e. 180 hours per semester, working on this unit to achieve a passing grade. This includes accessing the unit’s iLearn website at least twice a week and participating in online discussions, attending seminars and on-campus sessions, attending or listening to lectures, reading and studying, working on assignments.

Principal requirements

As postgraduate students, you are expected to participate fully in this unit, be self-directed in your learning, and approach the unit content with enthusiasm. To achieve a passing grade, you need to:

§ listen to all lectures

§ complete, post and discuss study-guide tasks online
§ complete the required readings and participate in online discussions
§ complete and submit all assignments
§ complete all required readings
§ check the unit’s iLearn website at least twice a week

STUDY RESOURCES

Required readings and other resources

There are also required readings and other resources that will be available through the library’s e-reserve collection and/or the unit’s iLearn website. All required and recommended readings are listed in the complete unit outline available through the ECED886 iLearn website.

Unit website

There is a website for this unit. Access to this unit is available online through iLearn, at ilearn.mq.edu.au. You will need to login using your Macquarie ID.

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central. Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:

In addition, a number of other policies can be found in the Learning and Teaching Category of Policy Central.

Student Code of Conduct

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Capable of Professional and Personal Judgment and Initiative

Our postgraduates will demonstrate a high standard of discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgment. They will have the ability to make informed choices and decisions that reflect both the nature of their professional work and their personal perspectives.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Use a metalanguage for discussing how images construct meanings and operate in different social and cultural contexts
• Evaluate how multimodal texts and environments for children support learning and literacy development
• Develop a strong understanding of how to promote the development of critical visual and multimodal literacy in children from diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds through multimodal texts and environments
• Reflect on one’s own visual and critical multimodal literacy, and draw on these reflections to improve one’s academic and professional communication skills

Assessment tasks

• Assignment 2
• Assignment 3

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:
Learning outcomes

- Use a metalanguage for discussing how images construct meanings and operate in different social and cultural contexts
- Develop a metalanguage for discussing how images interact with language and other modes of communication

• Assignment 1
• Assignment 2
• Assignment 3
• Assignment 4

PG - Research and Problem Solving Capability

Our postgraduates will be capable of systematic enquiry; able to use research skills to create new knowledge that can be applied to real world issues, or contribute to a field of study or practice to enhance society. They will be capable of creative questioning, problem finding and problem solving.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Develop a metalanguage for discussing how images interact with language and other modes of communication
• Evaluate how multimodal texts and environments for children support learning and literacy development
• Demonstrate an understanding of recent research literature on visual communication, multimodality and multimodal learning and literacy

Assessment task

• Assignment 3

PG - Effective Communication

Our postgraduates will be able to communicate effectively and convey their views to different social, cultural, and professional audiences. They will be able to use a variety of technologically supported media to communicate with empathy using a range of written, spoken or visual formats.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

• Reflect on one's own visual and critical multimodal literacy, and draw on these reflections to improve one's academic and professional communication skills
Assessment tasks

- Assignment 1
- Assignment 2
- Assignment 3
- Assignment 4

PG - Engaged and Responsible, Active and Ethical Citizens

Our postgraduates will be ethically aware and capable of confident transformative action in relation to their professional responsibilities and the wider community. They will have a sense of connectedness with others and country and have a sense of mutual obligation. They will be able to appreciate the impact of their professional roles for social justice and inclusion related to national and global issues.
