Unit description
This unit examines the law relating to marketing and media issues with a focus on the regulation of advertising and promotional activities. The law relating to defamation and the potential defences available to journalists and information providers is analysed. The laws governing copyright, designs, trade marks and patents are considered with close reference to the case law and legislation. Competition law is examined in some detail and includes the law relating to exclusive dealings and misuse of market power. Finally, the consumer protection provisions in the trade practices legislation are analysed in the context of modern marketing practice.

Classes

- Number and length of classes: 3 hours face-to-face teaching per week, consisting of 1 x 2 hour lecture and 1 x 1 hour tutorial.
- Lecture Friday (please confirm day and location closer to teaching time).
- The timetable for classes can be found on the University web site at: http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au/
- Once the tutorial groups are formed, students cannot change their classes.
- Attendance will be taken in the tutorials.
- Warning: You must attend at least 10 of the 12 tutorials – failure to do so will lead to major deduction from your group-work contribution.
- Medical certificates must be provided if you are not able to attend a class without incurring a penalty.
- Students are required to pass the exam to gain a pass in the unit
Students are expected to arrive on time, and not to leave until the class ends.

If you have a recurring problem that makes you late, or forces you to leave early, have the courtesy to discuss this with your lecturer/tutor.

Students must be quiet during classes, unless of course when class participation is required.

Mobile phone must be turned OFF and not simply set to ‘silent’.

All laptops must be turned OFF in class, unless student is using the laptop to write class notes.

Students who disturb or disrupt in lectures and tutorial class will be asked to leave.

Academic Honesty

The nature of scholarly endeavour, dependent as it is on the work of others, binds all members of the University community to abide by the principles of academic honesty. Its fundamental principle is that all staff and students act with integrity in the creation, development, application and use of ideas and information. This means that:

- all academic work claimed as original is the work of the author making the claim
- all academic collaborations are acknowledged
- academic work is not falsified in any way
- when the ideas of others are used, these ideas are acknowledged appropriately.

Further information on the academic honesty can be found in the Macquarie University Academic Honesty Policy at http://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/academic_honesty/policy.html

Grades

Macquarie University uses the following grades in coursework units of study:
