Unit description
The special place of Indigenous peoples in Australia gives rise to unique questions of law. Most fundamentally, there is the challenge of acknowledging the existence of more than one legal order in the one geographical space. Following this, there are the terms of coexistence of these legal orders. And finally, to the extent that Indigenous peoples are subject to the official State and Commonwealth legal systems, there is a question of how effectively these legal systems regulate issues particular to Indigenous peoples.

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Develop student knowledge of the history of Australian law and system of government and the place of Indigenous customary law within that system.
- Develop student knowledge of important legal and political issues that have impacted on Indigenous Australians, linking the issues to past policies and laws.
- Develop student knowledge of the operation of Australian law and structure of government in continuing to impact on Indigenous Australians. Develop student critical capabilities to identify the strengths and weaknesses of the Australian legal and political system to further Indigenous peoples’ aims and to evaluate the role of law reform in key areas affecting Indigenous Australians. Develop student written and verbal communication skills in formulating arguments about the Australian legal and political system and their impact on Indigenous Australians. Develop student independent research skills in analysing the operation of the legal and political institutions of Australia as they impact on Indigenous Australians.
General Assessment Information
Task 1: Class Participation and Attendance

Internal Students should register in one of the available tutorial slots when they enrol in the unit. Additional readings and discussion questions for each tutorial will be available on the iLearn page for the unit. Lectures commence in Week 1. Tutorials commence in Week 2.

Lectures may be pre-recorded, but there may be lectures where attendance is compulsory (see iLearn). Internal Students are expected to attend a minimum of 80% of all tutorials ie/ at least 10 tutorials. In the event that students cannot attend a tutorial (or compulsory lecture) they must comply with the "Disruption to Studies" policy. In cases of where a student's circumstances have affected their participation and attendance in more than two tutorials, the students should contact the unit convenor immediately and alternative arrangements may be made. In cases of unexplained absences the tutor may deduct marks for class participation at her discretion. (NB – 'unexplained absence' does not include tutorials cancelled because of public holidays.)

Students will be given an interim class participation mark during the mid-semester break worth 10%, and a final class participation at the end of semester also worth 10%.

Attendance for External students on both days of the on-campus session is compulsory: students cannot attend for a third or a half day for instance and think they have fulfilled the requirements for attendance. In the event that a student cannot attend the entire OCS they are required to apply for disruption. In that event, you will be required to make up the missed time by completing extra written work. The onus is on you to ensure that the Unit Convenor knows your situation and sets the make up work, and that you submit it at the agreed time.

Please note that attendance is compulsory for pedagogical reasons, and exemption is granted only in cases where a successful application for disruption has been made.

Moderation

Detailed marking rubrics will be made available on iLearn.

Task 2: Quiz on Native Title

A summary of this assessment task is available in the Assessment Tasks section of this unit guide.

Disruption to Studies

In the absence of a successful application for special consideration due to a disruption to studies, any assessment task submitted after its published deadline will not be graded and will receive a mark of zero. Applications for a Disruption to Studies are made electronically, via ask.mq.edu.au, and should be accompanied by supporting documentation. Students should refer to the Disruption to Studies Policy for complete details of the policy and a description of the supporting documentation required.

Where a disruption has been approved, the student will be required to complete alternative written work in lieu of the quiz.

Moderation

Detailed marking rubrics will be made available on iLearn. If there are other markers assisting the convenor then a process of 'blind marking' to establish a common marking standard will be adopted and all Fail papers will be double marked.

Task 3: Research Essay

A summary of this assessment task is available in the Assessment Tasks section of this unit guide.

Disruption to Studies

In the absence of a successful application for special consideration due to a disruption to studies, any assessment task submitted after its published deadline will not be graded and will receive a mark of zero. Applications for a Disruption to Studies are made electronically, via ask.mq.edu.au, and should be accompanied by supporting documentation. Students should refer to the Disruption to Studies Policy for complete details of the policy and a description of the supporting documentation required.

Where a disruption has been approved, the student will be given an extension to complete the essay.

Submission

All written assessments in the unit are to be submitted electronically by way of Turnitin on the iLearn page. Plagiarism detection software is used in this unit.

Word Limits

Maximum word length is 2500 (excluding footnotes and bibliography).

Word limits will be strictly applied and work above the word limit will not be assessed.

Moderation

Detailed marking rubrics will be made available on iLearn. If there are other markers assisting the convenor then a process of 'blind marking' to establish a common marking standard will be adopted and all Fail papers will be double marked.

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop student knowledge of the history of Australian law and the system of government and the place of Indigenous customary law within that system.
- Develop student knowledge of important legal and political issues that have impacted on Indigenous Australians, linking the issues to past policies and laws.
- Develop student knowledge of the operation of Australian law and structure of government in continuing to impact on Indigenous Australians.

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop student written and verbal communication skills in formulating arguments about the Australian legal and political system and their impact on Indigenous Australians.
- Develop student independent research skills in analysing the operation of the legal and political institutions of Australia as they impact on Indigenous Australians.

Assessment task

- Research Essay

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop student written and verbal communication skills in formulating arguments about the Australian legal and political system and their impact on Indigenous Australians.
- Develop student independent research skills in analysing the operation of the legal and political institutions of Australia as they impact on Indigenous Australians.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation’s historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop student knowledge of the history of Australian law and system of government and the place of Indigenous customary law within that system.
- Develop student knowledge of important legal and political issues that have impacted on Indigenous Australians, linking the issues to past policies and laws.

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:
Learning outcomes

• Develop student knowledge of the history of Australian law and system of government and the place of Indigenous customary law within that system.

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Develop student knowledge of the history of Australian law and system of government and the place of Indigenous customary law within that system.
