Unit description
This unit enables students to understand and analyze the highly influential discourse of strategic management. Starting with the premise that the ideas and practices of strategic management are far too significant to be reduced to a set of simplified tools or techniques, this unit draws upon a wide range of academic work across the fields of management, organization studies, and strategy to examine the topic. Using this research, strategic management is considered in terms of the social, political, ethical and global effects that it engenders and encourages in today’s organised world. Students will have the opportunity to synthesize these areas of knowledge through analyzing the strategic lessons to be drawn from major organizational and societal events, including those of high-level corporate fraud and environmental crisis.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Critically assess the nature and origins of strategic management
Identify and analyse strategic issues in a management context
Demonstrate awareness of the major conceptualisations of strategic management
Demonstrate awareness of contemporary challenges for and critiques of Strategic Management

Final Examination

Due: University Examination Period
Weighting: 40%

A two (2) hour final examination under closed book conditions and within the University formal examination period.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate awareness of the major conceptualisations of strategic management
- Demonstrate awareness of contemporary challenges for and critiques of Strategic Management

Delivery and Resources

Classes

There are 3 hours of face-to-face teaching per week, consisting of 1 x 2 hour lecture and 1 x 1 hour tutorial.

Timetables for classes can be found on the University web site at www.timetables.mq.edu.au

Prizes

A Certificate Prize will be awarded to the student/s achieving the highest mark within this cohort.

Required and Recommended reading

The required reading for this unit consists of a collection of academic articles on strategy and management that will be uploaded for you on the unit ilearn site. You will need to download and read the designated article before your tutorials each week and to bring the article and your notes on it to the tutorial. Your understanding of each of these articles is examined in the final exam and assessed in the two essays.

In addition, there will be a number of further articles uploaded on ilearn under each week’s topic area. You will need to read a selection of these and use them in your assignments.

Learning Skills

Learning Skills (mq.edu.au/learningskills) provides academic writing resources and study
Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically assess the nature and origins of strategic management
- Identify and analyse strategic issues in a management context
- Demonstrate awareness of the major conceptualisations of strategic management
- Demonstrate awareness of contemporary challenges for and critiques of Strategic Management

Assessment tasks

- Assignment One
Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate awareness of contemporary challenges for and critiques of Strategic Management

Assessment task

- Assignment Two

Changes from Previous Offering

We have changed the second assessment task from a group report to an individual essay - based upon our judgement that the group project was not necessarily assessing each individual contributions accurately. We have also changed the length of both assessment tasks and the length of the final exam to bring the unit into-line with the University's new assessment policy. Given that the group report has been removed, we have taken out the two weeks that were set aside for students to organise their group work and replaced these with two new lecture topics (Neoliberalism and Strategy, Financial Strategy) and two new readings that relate to these topics.

Global Contexts and Sustainability

This unit examines Strategic Management from a critical academic perspective. As such, we will be questioning the theories and practices of strategic management as much as learning them. A major aspect of this questioning will be an examination of the global, ethical and environmental impacts of dominant corporate strategies.

Research and Practice

This unit requires students to engage with contemporary and classic research texts on strategy, drawn from the leading management and strategy journals and texts. As such, the unit fosters student's abilities to read and understand published academic research on the subject area.
