Unit description
Europe, so long a powerhouse in world history, changed fundamentally in the twentieth century. In Twentieth Century Europe you will explore key issues in European social, cultural, political, economic and military development. You will examine consumerism, the Cold War, migration, integration and decolonisation in the post-war era. Was it an age of catastrophe, an increasingly barbaric age or an age when modernity went wrong? You will explore the violence of two world wars, the Russian and Spanish civil wars, political polarisation and instability, ideological conflict, the Great Depression and the horrors of the Holocaust. The post-war themes suggest there is more to the European twentieth century than a straightforward story of ideological struggle. Upon completion, you will have gained an understanding of twentieth century European history from a political, military, social and cultural perspective. All enrolment queries should be directed to Open Universities Australia (OUA): see www.open.edu.au

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.open.edu.au/student-admin-and-support/key-dates/

Learning Outcomes
On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Describe the main changes and continuities in European society during the twentieth century
- Understand Europe’s basic political, social and economic structures
Discuss the emergence of new political and social forms
Identify socially and politically complex problems, and work out paths of investigation/creative resolution in your written work
Read and analyse different kinds of historical evidence, including visual and textual sources
Communicate effectively in a range of written forms, including in online discussions

Minor Essay

Due: Midnight, Friday Week 5
Weighting: 20%

This assessment tests your capacity to evaluate the historical value of secondary sources. You also need to show your awareness of the differences between primary and secondary sources. Select a major essay question and five key secondary source readings on that question (see the list of major essay questions and readings for Assessment 2). You are also asked to locate one primary source. In a total of 1000 words, write an entry for each reading (approximately 170 words each), showing your understanding of its content and aims, the author’s perspective, the strength of the author’s argument (how well supported with evidence is it?) and the key points that are debated by historians. Your entries must contain accurately footnoted references. Marks will be deducted if footnotes are not used and are not used accurately – see the ‘Referencing Essays in Modern History’ document for instructions on this.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe the main changes and continuities in European society during the twentieth century
- Understand Europe’s basic political, social and economic structures
- Discuss the emergence of new political and social forms
- Identify socially and politically complex problems, and work out paths of investigation/creative resolution in your written work
- Read and analyse different kinds of historical evidence, including visual and textual sources
sources
- Communicate effectively in a range of written forms, including in online discussions

Major Essay
Due: Midnight, Friday Week 9
Weighting: 40%

The aim of this task is to assess your ability to produce an extended discussion in written form (2500 words) in response to a specific question. The questions are listed in the assessment section of the course website. We expect you to write your essay using the sources supplied with the questions, but we also expect you to do your own primary and secondary research. Your essay must be fully referenced in line with the ‘Referencing Essays in Modern History’. Marks will be deducted in the major essay for inadequate or incorrect referencing.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Describe the main changes and continuities in European society during the twentieth century
- Understand Europe’s basic political, social and economic structures
- Discuss the emergence of new political and social forms
- Identify socially and politically complex problems, and work out paths of investigation/creative resolution in your written work
- Read and analyse different kinds of historical evidence, including visual and textual sources
- Communicate effectively in a range of written forms, including in online discussions

Take-home exam
Due: Midnight, Friday Week 13
Weighting: 30%

The non-invigilated take-home exam requires students to select three (3) questions (from a selection of nine) that relate to broad aspects of the course content. The main purpose of this assessment task is to test your ability to produce a brief but clear and logical argument that is supported by evidence. The total word length for the exam is 1500 words. For this task, you need not consult any readings beyond those listed as required or recommended. The essays must, however, be fully documented in the appropriate forms, with footnotes and a bibliography.

On successful completion you will be able to:
- Describe the main changes and continuities in European society during the twentieth century
- Understand Europe’s basic political, social and economic structures

Discuss the emergence of new political and social forms
• Identify socially and politically complex problems, and work out paths of investigation/creative resolution in your written work
• Communicate effectively in a range of written forms, including in online discussions

Online Participation
Due: Weekly
Weighting: 10%

The online discussion task, undertaken through the HST310 Online Website, tests your ability to communicate ideas, your appreciation and comprehension of the themes and concepts discussed in the course, your ability to critically assess and evaluate the arguments of others, and your ability to clearly articulate your thoughts. It is also a task that monitors your progress across the unit topics. You are expected to participate in weekly discussions and make postings within the time frame of each discussion topic. These begin on Monday of the discussion week and run through to the following Sunday. You will be assessed on the quality of your responses, the frequency of your posts and your engagement with other students. A professional and courteous approach towards staff and fellow students is expected at all times.

On successful completion you will be able to:
• Describe the main changes and continuities in European society during the twentieth century
• Understand Europe’s basic political, social and economic structures
• Discuss the emergence of new political and social forms
• Identify socially and politically complex problems, and work out paths of investigation/creative resolution in your written work
• Read and analyse different kinds of historical evidence, including visual and textual sources
• Communicate effectively in a range of written forms, including in online discussions

Delivery and Resources
All delivery and resources are online. All essential readings are provided online. Students may need to do additional research for the essays.

Policies and Procedures

Late Submission - applies unless otherwise stated elsewhere in the unit guide

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Extension Request

Special Consideration Policy and Procedure

The University recognises that students may experience events or conditions that adversely affect their academic performance. If you experience serious and unavoidable difficulties at exam time or when assessment tasks are due, you can consider applying for Special Consideration.

You need to show that the circumstances:

1. were serious, unexpected and unavoidable
2. were beyond your control
3. caused substantial disruption to your academic work
4. substantially interfered with your otherwise satisfactory fulfilment of the unit requirements
5. lasted at least three consecutive days or a total of 5 days within the teaching period and prevented completion of an assessment task scheduled for a specific date.

If you feel that your studies have been impacted submit an application as follows:

Week 12

Decolonisation and Migration

Week 13

Conclusion and Terrorism in post-war Europe
1. Visit Ask MQ and use your OneID to log in
2. Fill in your relevant details
3. Attach supporting documents by clicking 'Add a reply', click 'Browse' and navigating to the files you want to attach, then click 'Submit Form' to send your notification and supporting documents
4. Please keep copies of your original documents, as they may be requested in the future as part of the assessment process

Outcome
Once your submission is assessed, an appropriate outcome will be organised.

OUA Specific Policies and Procedures

Withdrawal from a unit after the census date

You can withdraw from your subjects prior to the census date (last day to withdraw). If you successfully withdraw before the census date, you won’t need to apply for Special Circumstances. If you find yourself unable to withdraw from your subjects before the census date - you might be able to apply for Special Circumstances. If you’re eligible, we can refund your fees and overturn your fail grade.

If you’re studying Single Subjects using FEE-HELP or paying up front, you can apply online.

If you’re studying a degree using HECS-HELP, you’ll need to apply directly to Macquarie University.

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central. Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:

Academic Honesty Policy http://mq.edu.au/policy/docs/academic_honesty/policy.html
In addition, a number of other policies can be found in the Learning and Teaching Category of Policy Central.

Problem Solving and Research Capability
Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
