Unit description

We often think politically without being aware of it. When we say that some people in our society have not been treated justly or when we condemn violence and injustice in other societies, we are making political judgements and using political concepts. How does our sense of fairness or our compassion in cases such as these relate to our political judgements? This unit explores key political concepts such as justice, equality, democracy and the rule of the law as well as the role of morality in political judgement. We also consider the concept of ideology and examine particular ideologies including: liberalism, nationalism, conservatism and fundamentalism. Among the selected readings for this unit are the classics of political thought such as Plato, Aristotle, Machiavelli and Hobbes. All enrolment queries should be directed to Open Universities Australia (OUA): see www.open.edu.au

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.open.edu.au/student-admin-and-support/key-dates/>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- The ability to analyse and express your judgement about a range of political phenomena in oral and written form
- Understand and critically assess a variety of contemporary political ideologies

Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory
Read and critically interpret some classic and contemporary political texts

General Assessment Information

Extensions

The convenor DOES NOT approve or grant extensions. Students need to apply for special consideration through ask.mq.edu.

Late Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Online posts	15%	No	Continuous
University Studies Skills	5%	No	Weeks 1 and 8
Online Quizz	15%	Yes	22 August
Major Essay.	35%	No	Friday 12 Oct

Online posts

Due: Continuous

Weighting: 15%

External students and OUA students will have their own External/OUA Students Forum. Each week there will be a question posted to which all external students will be required to reply with a post no longer than 200 words. The question will deal with the issues raised in the lectures and readings only. Your replies should be based on your readings and should not be based on your personal opinions or preferences. You should present a coherent and focused reply to the question based on your readings. You need to reference your quotes and sources using the Harvard system. It is this quality of your reply that will be assessed.

Your reply to the question should be posted within a week from the date of the posting of the question. In order to gain the full 15 per cent participation mark, a student needs to post at least 9 coherent and focused replies.

This purpose of this forum is not the presentation of your personal opinions but discussion of the topics arising from the lectures and readings. You can comment on other students' posts provided you follow the rules of netiquette and keep your discussion within the bounds of the question raised. This forum should be a substitute for a live tutorial.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- The ability to analyse and express your judgement about a range of political phenomena in oral and written form
- Understand and critically assess a variety of contemporary political ideologies
- Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory

University Studies Skills

Due: Weeks 1 and 8

Weighting: 5%

There are three quizzes in this over-all quizz: orientation to university study and resources, research and referencing skills and academic integrity quizz. They are open for a few days in week 1 and week 8. The links to the quizzes are found in the separate section University Studies Skills which also have links to the resources needed to pass the quizzes.

All the resources and readings required for passing these quizzes are given online - links provided in a separate section University Studies Skills.

These are short and easy quizzes but require some preparation. They should help you prepare and test your skills needed to complete this unit and all other units.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Read and critically interpret some classic and contemporary political texts

Online Quizz

Due: 22 August

Weighting: 15%

This is a hurdle assessment task (see assessment policy for more information on hurdle assessment tasks)

This is short online quizz testing the comprehension of the concepts used in the readings and lectures so far. It will be a multiple answer quizz and it will last only half an hour. You can prepare for the quizz by reviewing the readings and lectures so far. This is a timed assessment.

If you fail the quizz, you may consider disenrolling from this unit before the census date.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and critically assess a variety of contemporary political ideologies
- Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory
- Read and critically interpret some classic and contemporary political texts

Major Essay.

Due: Friday 12 Oct

Weighting: 35%

Essay 1500-2000 words on a set question.

Questions and instructions to be posted in week 5 of unit.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- The ability to analyse and express your judgement about a range of political phenomena in oral and written form
- Understand and critically assess a variety of contemporary political ideologies
- Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory

Quizz Final 1 hour

Due: 7 Nov 10 am -8 Nov 10 pm

Weighting: 30%

You will have attempt to answer 6 (six) questions covering the lectures and readings for the whole unit. Your answers will be short - three sentences each. The questions are related ONLY to the lectures and required readings. You can prepare for the test by revising your notes from lectures/readings.

Your answers have to in your own words: no quotations and no referencing are allowed. While you may be able to consult your notes if you wish, copying any text - plagiarism - may lead you to fail the quizz. Your answers may be put through the Turnitin.

This is an online quizz which will open only for an hour: once you open it, you will have to complete and submit it within an hour. But the quizz will be available from 7 November 10 am to 8 November 10 pm.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- The ability to analyse and express your judgement about a range of political phenomena in oral and written form
- Understand and critically assess a variety of contemporary political ideologies
- Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory
- Read and critically interpret some classic and contemporary political texts

Delivery and Resources

Delivery:

OUA

This unit will use:

iLearn and echo recordings for lectures. You will need access to a computer and internet.

Times for Lectures:

Available online each week

For times and days of release consult the MQ timetables website: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au>.

Required resources:

The lectures on political ideologies are based on the text Political Ideologies: An Introduction by Andrew Heywood, (Palgrave, 6th EDITION). This will be available in the Macquarie Coop and in the Library. There will be other texts used and those will be available on e-reserve (under unit readings) or on the internet. The specific chapters/readings which are REQUIRED will be found on the unit schedule and under Leganto (Library resources). This schedule will be posted on the iLearn page.

Unit Schedule

This unit deals primarily with contemporary political ideologies: they provide a common (and sometimes deceptive) framework for thinking politically. In addition, a few texts of modern (post-medieval) European political thought will be explored. These provide alternative ways of political thinking.

Week 1. Politics: what is it? Political thought into political action: political ideologies

Week 2. Nationalism: each nation a state of its own. Why?

Week 3. Liberalism: how to ensure that individuals are free (in a state which controls them?)

Week 4. Conservatism: how to live in accordance with one's cherished values

Week 5. Socialism/anarchism: how to minimize political and economic inequalities

Week 6. Ecologism: how to preserve life on earth. Feminism: how to achieve gender equality

Week 7: Populism: how to give voice to the ordinary people in politics dominated by elites

Week 8. Fundamentalism: fundamental religious truths as the basis for politics and society

Week 9. Reading Week.

Week 10. A very brief history of European political thought: the main themes

Week 11. More's Utopia : politics as an art of social engineering (towards social equality)

Week 12. Machiavelli's Prince: politics as an instrument of gaining and keeping power

Week 13. Test and summary of the unit topics

Policies and Procedures

Late Submission - applies unless otherwise stated elsewhere in the unit guide

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Extension Request

Special Consideration Policy and Procedure \(https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/special-consideration\)

The University recognises that students may experience events or conditions that adversely affect their academic performance. If you experience serious and unavoidable difficulties at exam time or when assessment tasks are due, you can consider applying for Special Consideration.

You need to show that the circumstances:

1. were serious, unexpected and unavoidable
2. were beyond your control
3. caused substantial disruption to your academic work
4. substantially interfered with your otherwise satisfactory fulfilment of the unit requirements
5. lasted at least three consecutive days or a total of 5 days within the teaching period and prevented completion of an assessment task scheduled for a specific date.

If you feel that your studies have been impacted submit an application as follows:

1. Visit Ask MQ and use your OneID to log in
2. Fill in your relevant details
3. Attach supporting documents by clicking 'Add a reply', click 'Browse' and navigating to the files you want to attach, then click 'Submit Form' to send your notification and supporting documents
4. Please keep copies of your original documents, as they may be requested in the future as part of the assessment process

Outcome

Once your submission is assessed, an appropriate outcome will be organised.

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Assessment task

- Online Quizz

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory

Assessment task

- University Studies Skills

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- The ability to analyse and express your judgement about a range of political phenomena in oral and written form

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- The ability to analyse and express your judgement about a range of political phenomena in oral and written form
- Understand and critically assess a variety of contemporary political ideologies
- Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory
- Read and critically interpret some classic and contemporary political texts

Assessment task

- Major Essay.

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- The ability to analyse and express your judgement about a range of political phenomena in oral and written form
- Understand and critically assess a variety of contemporary political ideologies
- Think more critically and systematically about politics, the relationship between political ideas and political action, and differentiate between types of political theory

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Assessment task

- Major Essay.

Changes from Previous Offering

The unit has been substantially restructured to include a larger number of contemporary
