Unit description

This unit will fulfil the professional and community engagement (PACE) criteria for JD students through student involvement in new and existing, local and international partnerships between Macquarie University and the legal profession and community through participation in a variety of workplace experiences including law firms, legal centres, community-based legal organisations and services, government agencies and not-for-profit organisations. There will be a variety of ways that students will be able to engage with the real world application of legal skills and principles developed in earlier units of study either through internships, clerkships and voluntary or paid legally related employment. In line with the university's PACE initiatives, the unit aims to provide students with a broad social perspective, critical thinking skills and the technical competence that employers value.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Demonstrate an advanced understanding of the social, political, ethical and legal issues involved in the provision of legal advice and services either through private practice or through public advocacy; or community legal centre practices

Demonstrate a high level appreciation of the personal and professional demands on, and expectations of, a lawyer in practice. In particular issues of honesty, trust and professional ethical duties to clients, the court and to society in general are addressed.

Identify and respond to ethical issues appropriately

Critique current practices and regulation of the legal profession.

Where appropriate apply practical skills necessary in legal practice, including: • preparing file notes • drafting legal correspondence • preparing court documents • conducting client interviewing • conducting legal research

Apply the cognitive, interpersonal and communication skills necessary in legal practice, including: • the ability to engage in reflection and be self-aware • constructive engagement with work colleagues • willing and collaborative participation in the work environment • effective communication • capacity for critical analysis

Assessment Tasks

Placement Participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 0%

This is a hurdle assessment task (see assessment policy for more information on hurdle assessment tasks)

This is a pass/fail component. This is a hurdle requirement meaning that students must pass this component in order to pass the course

To indicate satisfactory attendance and participation, the placement supervisor will certify to the unit convenor that each student:

- attended each day
- responded to directions and carried out required tasks
- participated constructively in discussions
- acted ethically, i.e respectfully, with apparent honesty, and was aware of potential conflicts of interest

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an advanced understanding of the social, political, ethical and legal issues involved in the provision of legal advice and services either through private practice or through public advocacy; or community legal centre practices
- Demonstrate a high level appreciation of the personal and professional demands on, and expectations of, a lawyer in practice. In particular issues of honesty, trust and professional ethical duties to clients, the court and to society in general are addressed.
- Identify and respond to ethical issues appropriately

Participation Exercises

Due: Weeks 3,6,8

Weighting: 35%

Students complete set readings and exercises on ethics and regulation of the legal profession; and may be required to participate in on-line discussions, wikis and blogs on ethical issues.

Details of exercises and questions including due dates, submission and assessment criteria will be discussed at the compulsory seminars, and the exercises will be available on iLearn.

The exercises will be submitted via Turnitin on iLearn by 10pm Friday week 3 , week 6, and week 8

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an advanced understanding of the social, political, ethical and legal issues involved in the provision of legal advice and services either through private practice or through public advocacy; or community legal centre practices
- Demonstrate a high level appreciation of the personal and professional demands on, and expectations of, a lawyer in practice. In particular issues of honesty, trust and professional ethical duties to clients, the court and to society in general are addressed.

- Identify and respond to ethical issues appropriately
- Critique current practices and regulation of the legal profession.

Goals and Reflection

Due: Weeks 2 and 13

Weighting: 25%

This exercise involves two stages:

1. Students complete a skills checklist, then develop goals for their placement and consider the means by which they will be achieved. Templates for the exercise are provided.
2. In week 13 students prepare a goal outcomes report and personal reflection; and set future short and long term goals

Full details of this exercise, including guidelines and assessment criteria will be discussed on iLearn.

The skills checklist and goal setting exercise will be submitted via iLearn by 10pm Friday week 2

The reflective report will be submitted via Turnitin on iLearn by 10pm Friday week 13

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate a high level appreciation of the personal and professional demands on, and expectations of, a lawyer in practice. In particular issues of honesty, trust and professional ethical duties to clients, the court and to society in general are addressed.
- Apply the cognitive, interpersonal and communication skills necessary in legal practice, including:

 - constructive engagement with work colleagues
 - willing and collaborative participation in the work environment
 - effective communication
 - capacity for critical analysis

Research Essay

Due: Week 11

Weighting: 40%

Students are required to critique current practices and regulation of the legal profession. Students may choose one out of a number of questions that will be provided on iLearn

OR

Students may nominate their own essay topic. Students may identify an issue relating to an area of professional practice that in their opinion needs to be improved; and will prepare a critique of current practices and regulation in the area, suggestions for change, and what they as a practitioner would do in response to the issue. Students nominating their own topic must seek approval from the convenor for their topic before the end of week 7.

Further details of this assessment task will be provided at the week 2 seminar, and the set questions will be posted on i-Learn.

The research essay will be submitted via Turnitin on iLearn by 10pm Friday week 11

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify and respond to ethical issues appropriately
- Critique current practices and regulation of the legal profession.
