Unit description

This is an introductory unit that explores local impacts of global change from three perspectives, the socio-cultural, the political and the economic. It seeks reasons for differences between places and groups of people in the impacts of globalisation. Global-local interactions are examined with specific reference to: population change and migration; urbanisation and the emergence of 'global' cities; local cultural identity in the context of global change; development and inequality; changing geopolitics of the post-Cold War era; and the implications of global economic change with special reference to the Asia–Pacific region.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.

Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.

Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.

Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.

Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.

Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

General Assessment Information

Late Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.

To successfully pass GEOP111 students must complete all assessment tasks. Failure to complete any single assessment task may result in failure of the unit. The final grade is based on the total mark accumulated from all assessment tasks.

All students must keep a clean electronic copy of all assignments (preferably as a PDF) submitted for assessment.

All students must make themselves available during the official Examination Period.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Short essay	20%	No	26/3/2018 at 5pm
Research essay	35%	No	18/05/2018 at 5pm
Final Exam	35%	No	Exam period starts 12th June
Participation and engagement	10%	No	Ongoing

Short essay

Due: 26/3/2018 at 5pm

Weighting: 20%

Critically describe three important aspects of geographies of global change. To do so, read the following readings ONLY:

Crang, P. 2014. 'Local-global' in (eds) P. Cloke, P. Crang & Goodwin, M. Introducing Human Geographies, Routledge: London, pp 7-22. (available as online text through www.library.mq.edu.au)

Knox, P. & Marston, S. 2015. 'Geography Matters' in (eds) Knox, P. & Marston, S. Human Geography: Places and Regions in Global Context, Pearson: Edinburgh, pp 28-56.

Massey, D. 2014. 'Taking on the world', Geography 99 (1): 36-39. (available as online text through www.library.mq.edu.au)

750 word count means within 10% of 750 words, so either 75 words under or above this word count is acceptable. The references at the end of the essay are NOT included in this word count.

Essays will be submitted electronically through iLearn and graded by your tutor.

In your essay, it is essential to draw on specific examples from the readings and write a coherent, clear argument.

- Presentation should be formal academic writing, double spaced, 12pt font.
- Fully referenced in Harvard style, with an alphabetised Reference list included at the end.
- Reference list not included in the 750 word count.
- Maps, figures and diagrams are acceptable, but must be relevant, referred to in text (for example: 'Figure 1 shows that...'), captioned with source, source in reference list.
- See Hay (2006) for further help with academic writing in geography (listed in suggested GEOP111 readings)

Extensions must be requested and granted prior to the due date. Requests must be processed through ask.mq.edu.au.

Feedback will be available via your Turnitin submission.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Research essay

Due: 18/05/2018 at 5pm

Weighting: 35%

'The structures and flows of globalisation are variously embraced, resisted, subverted, and exploited as they make contact with specific places and specific communities. In the process, places and regions are reconstructed rather than effaced.' (Knox and Marston, 2014:73).

Critically analyse this quote from your textbook. In your essay, provide two clear examples of places and regions that have been reconstructed by the structures and flows of globalisation.

Essay writing requirements:

In your essay, it is essential to draw on specific examples from your research, reading, lectures and tutorials.

- Presentation should be formal academic writing, double spaced, 12pt font.
- Fully referenced in Harvard style, with an alphabetised Reference list included at the end.
- Reference list not included in the 2000 word count.
- Maps, figures and diagrams are acceptable, but must be relevant, referred to in text (for example: 'Figure 1 shows that...'), captioned with source, source in reference list.
- Must include a minimum of six academic references (academic books, journal articles, official reports).
- Must include an introduction and conclusion, and subheadings for each new section
- See Hay (2006) for further help with academic writing in geography (listed in suggested GEOP111 readings)

Extensions must be requested and granted prior to the due date. Requests must be processed through ask.mq.edu.au.

Feedback will be available via your Turnitin submission.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.

- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Final Exam

Due: Exam period starts 12th June

Weighting: 35%

Exams are administered through the Examinations Office. You will have to sit the exam at Macquarie University or an approved centre. Timetables will be available online nearer to the exam period. You MUST be available to sit an exam at any time during the exam period.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Participation and engagement

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 10%

Your online preparation and engagement will be assessed throughout the semester. Detailed instructions are available on iLearn. Ensure you read these instructions closely.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Delivery and Resources

Classes

Unit offered:

Session 1, 2018. Internal and External enrolments are possible.

Lectures:

Lectures (each one hour) are held at

- Monday 12pm 17 Wallys Walk T1 Theatre
- Wednesday 12pm 23 Wallys Walk T1 Theatre

Lectures and tutorials start at five minutes past the hour and finish at five minutes before the hour. External students are expected to keep up to date with the twice weekly lectures and listen to them online before doing tutorial activities.

Students can also livestream lectures. For more information on this mode of engaging with lectures, please go to: <https://students.mq.edu.au/support/study/tools-and-resources/ilearn/ilearn-quick-guides-for-students/lecture-recordings>

Tutorials:

GEOP111 has a full schedule of tutorials that enhance your general and discipline-specific skills and knowledge. It is important that you participate in all tutorials for GEOP111.

Required and Recommended Texts and/or Materials

Most of the readings come from the required text:

Knox, P. and Marston, S. (2016). Human Geography: Places and Regions in Global Context. New International Edition. Pearson, Harlow. NB: Earlier editions of the textbook are fine for the purposes of this unit.

This textbook comes with access to MasteringGeography, a useful tool for successful learning in GEOP111, but it is optional.

Other readings will be assigned during the session which may be accessed by iLearn and eReserve.

Other recommended texts include:

Hartley, P. and Dawsom, M. (2010) Success in Groupwork, Palgrave Macmillan, New York.

Hay, I. (2006) Communicating in Geography and the Environmental Sciences. Oxford University Press (3rd edition), Melbourne.

Unit webpage and Technology used and required

All enrolled students have access to the unit website at <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au/login/MQ/>. Access to the website is essential to complete GEOP111. External students complete the entire unit online.

Unit webpage - GEOP111

The webpage for this unit can be found at iLearn, the Macquarie University online learning system at <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au>. iLearn has both a discussion board and an internal email system. The webpage will provide you with access to lectures through the University's echo360 lecture recording facility, as well as to follow-up discussion, links, readings supplied by teachers of GEOP111 and forum discussions.

Unit Schedule

The table below indicates the schedule for GEOP111 in 2018. There will be some changes as the unit is refined before semester start so please follow the final schedule that will be posted in iLearn before semester starts.

Week	Topic	Readings	Tutorials
1	Introducing the unit/ Contemporary globalisation	'Geography Matters' in textbook	Technology for GEOP111
2	Geographies of Global Change/ Research skills	'The Changing Global Context' in textbook	Why am I studying GEOP111? Future employment
3	Political Geography 1	'Political Geography' in textbook	Critical writing skills
4	Political Geography 2	To be confirmed (TBC)	Mapping micro-geographies of power
5	Development Geographies 1	TBC	Geographies of food security
6	Development Geographies 2	TBC	Doing development differently
7	Environmental Humanities/ Animal Geographies	Cronon's 'The Trouble with Wilderness'	Online workshop on the Environmental Humanities
8	Into the Anthropocene?	'People and nature' in textbook	Querying the Anthropocene: Critical reading and thinking

10	Urban Geography 2	TBC	Census in the city: Data analysis skills
11	Cultural Geographies/Unsettling colonisation	'Cultural Geographies' in textbook	'Sense of Place': The global in the local
12	Geographies of music/Sex, gender and geography	McLean et al 2016. 'Learning from Feminism in Digital Spaces: Online methodologies' in library reserve	Geography and gender: spaces of sexism and safety
13	Reviewing GEOP111 and looking to future studies and work	No new readings	No tutorial

Learning and Teaching Activities

Lectures

Most weeks of the semester we will have two lectures of one hour duration, covering core unit content and sharing assessment task information and tips. Some weeks we will only have one face-to-face lecture and students will do online activities such as watch a short pre-recorded video and discuss these in tutorials or online if you are an external student.

Tutorials

Tutorials will comprise of a series of weekly 1 hour activities, focused on skills and content-specific tasks, to extend and apply the ideas shared in lectures and from your readings. Both internal and external students participate in weekly tutorial activities.

Assessment tasks

The assessment tasks of GEOP111 are designed to help you meet the learning outcomes for the unit. The unit is designed to support your critical thinking and writing skills as well as enhance your skills in oral presentation, web-based presentation and group-based work.

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central \(https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policy-central\). Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.

- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.

Assessment tasks

- Short essay
- Research essay
- Participation and engagement

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Assessment tasks

- Short essay
- Research essay
- Final Exam
- Participation and engagement

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Assessment tasks

- Short essay
- Research essay
- Final Exam

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Assessment tasks

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Assessment tasks

- Short essay
- Research essay
- Final Exam
- Participation and engagement

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Assessment tasks

- Short essay
- Research essay
- Final Exam
- Participation and engagement

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Assessment tasks

- Short essay

- Research essay
- Final Exam
- Participation and engagement

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key process of global change and their historical and geographical contexts.
- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.
- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Assessment tasks

- Short essay
- Research essay
- Final Exam
- Participation and engagement

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Explain the role of place and space in recent and current global processes of economic, political, social and cultural change.

- Outline and suggest explanations for the uneven geographic outcomes of global changes, and the connections and disconnections between places around the globe.
- Research, read and critically interpret the work of geographers.
- Produce different kinds of academic compositions that are clear, well-structured, referenced and relevant.
- Describe and interpret maps, geographical distributions and tables.

Changes from Previous Offering

The MQ Geo Challenge is now able to be undertaken by all students, internal and external. External students are able to submit their completed work online rather than present in a classroom setting.

The research essay question has been redesigned to help students construct a clear essay and think critically about complex local and global forces of change.

In 2017 there is a 10% participation grade for internal students to assess their contribution to tutorial discussions. This will reward students for contributing to valuable conversations that will advance their learning.

Three modules now have blended learning activities that aim to support students in discovering what future careers they may undertake in geography and planning and how their current studies are relevant to everyday planning and governance issues.
