Unit description

This unit examines the development approval process which is a major component of environmental planning in a statutory context. The examination will be undertaken from both theoretical and practical perspectives with a focus upon the foundation elements of environmental planning frameworks including stakeholders, assessment methods and professional planning ethics, while considering both administrative and jurisdictional contexts. This highly practical subject pays particular attention to methods of environmental assessment in development control and case studies are employed to relate theory to practice, generating professional planner practice skills for each participant.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

An understanding of the theory and practice of the development approval process in NSW, including plan making.

Knowledge of the range of methods, institutional and ethical contexts and values of stakeholders in the development approval processes, including understanding the role of councils and the NSW Land and Environment Court.

Critically analyse and evaluate practical case studies in development approval and assessment in order to recognise the strengths and limitations of the development approval process.

Plan reading, design and practical planning skills.

An ability to write logical and clearly structured reports, addressing defined issues, applying an understanding of planning terms in both strategic and development planning.

Presentation skills appropriate for briefing clients, stakeholders and councillors.

Consideration of the ways in which values and ethical issues affect the built environment and reflection on how personal values and assumptions influence ethical practice.

General Assessment Information

There are four assessments for GEOP 816. The final grade is based on the total mark accumulated across all assessments. Failure to submit any single assessment task will result in failure of the unit.

Unless a special consideration request https://ask.mq.edu.au/account/forms/display/special_consideration has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.

Class attendance is required – so is your active participation in class activities. Paid outside work commitments is not a legitimate reason for missing class. The roll will be called at each class.

Submitting your assignment:

All assignments should be submitted via Turn-it-in.

Please note

1. There are four assignments for this course. You must submit all four assignments in order to pass the course.
2. Three of these assignments have a strict word limit the aim of which is to encourage concise and clear expression which is needed in most professional situations.

State the number of words in your assignment not including a reference list.

3. You may include summary tables, dot points, maps and other devices to present your information succinctly, providing your dot points can always be read as part of a full sentence.
4. Ensure that your name and student number are contained in the header or footer of each page.

5. Number your pages
6. Keep a copy of all your submitted assignments, unfortunately they do get lost sometimes.
7. Use a reference list to correctly list all sources cited in your text. Note that failure to cite sources - including unpublished lecture material etc. - will be considered as plagiarism and will result in severe penalties, up to and including failure of the whole unit. If you need to include references to material not cited in your text, use a bibliography and include a brief paragraph explaining why.

Delivery and Resources

GEOP 816 is presented in block mode to enhance planning profession skill learning and access to specialists in the planning field. The unit comprises lectures, workshops, and assessments designed to meet the learning objectives.

A reading list will be provided.

Students are requested to bring their laptops/tablets to all classes as internet access will be required for some activities.

GEOP 816 has a website which is accessible via ilearn.mq.edu.au. Here you can get access to unit materials, copies of PowerPoint slides, notices and a bulletin board to communicate with staff and fellow students. You should check the website regularly for messages.

Students are required to borrow or purchase a scale ruler in order to assess architectural plans - one of the skills that will be developed in the unit.
