Special Consideration

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments.
submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests. Special Consideration

Expectations of students

- Actively engage with assessment tasks, including carefully reading the guidance provided, understanding criteria, spending sufficient time on the task and submitting work on time.
- Ensure that their work is their own in accordance with the University’s Academic Honesty Policy.
- Incorporate theories and topics from the unit.
- Regularly engage in news consumption via a range of platforms.
- Read, reflect and act on feedback provided.

Reference Style

- All sources for submitted work should be correctly cited in-text and in a bibliography using APA formatting.
- An APA style guide is available here: https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/0
- Failure to correctly cite a source may lead to the student being reported for plagiarism: https://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/academic_honesty/policy.html

Feedback in this unit

Feedback (on assessments and learning) is provided in several ways throughout this unit. The usefulness of feedback depends on what you do with it. Feedback can be provided in the form of:

- General comment, rubric and in-text comments attached to assignments marked in GradeMark
- Comments from your tutor in discussions and unit activities
- Announcements in iLearn if there are points of relevance to the whole class
- Personal reflections during the course on learning
- Email communication with individual students where comments are made by the tutor or convenor in response to questions related to course activities
- Personal consultations by phone or face to face as requested by appointment

Story Pitch

Due: Week 4
Weighting: 20%

You will develop a pitch for a television news story. This involves presenting a pitch during your seminar and submitting a paper script of the pitch to your tutor. You will need to find a newsworthy, timely topic that interests you. Think about the sources and people you will need to access, whether the topic has compelling visual elements, and whether it is appropriate to your audience. Develop a script for your 4-5 minute pitch, which should include:

- A working headline
- A summary of the proposed story (who, what, when, where, why, how)
- An explanation of why an audience would be interested in this story
- A discussion of main sources (interview talent, reports or documents, archives, etc.)
- An indication of visuals that will accompany the story.

You will present the pitch during your seminar and your peers will have the opportunity to ask questions and provide feedback. Consider converting your script to bullet points to avoid reading word-for-word. You may include props or print-outs (but not PowerPoint slides or video) for your audience.

You will also submit a paper copy of your pitch script to your tutor in the seminar immediately before you present. There is no required word length, but the paper copy should cover the material discussed in your pitch. It should also present evidence of research including APA referencing where it is applicable. The Story Pitch is intended to help students identify and apply news values, understand newsroom practices and culture, and begin the process of news production. It will provide a starting point for the News Bulletin assignment, as students will subsequently form groups and choose one of the pitches to produce a news story.

The criteria against which the report will be graded are:

- Identifying newsworthiness
- Research and preparation
- Understanding of news practices and story structure
This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Understand and apply key theories of news and current affairs.
- Engage in news production and newsroom practices.

News Analysis

Due: Week 7

Weighting: 30%

You will select a news story to analyse using theories and concepts from the unit readings. First, locate a news or current affairs story in an Australian newspaper, online news source, television, or radio program. When picking the story make sure it is recent; it was published/broadcast after the current session start date. The source is well-known and credible. The story deals with a topic that interests you and does so in an in-depth way.

Second, analyse the story using theories and concepts from our unit readings, lectures, and seminar discussion. You may consider the following aspects of the story: what makes it newsworthy, its structure, the use of multimedia, the intended audience and message, ethical concerns, and the economics of its production. You should look ahead to future unit readings for sources and topics. You may decide to apply one or more pertinent theories to analyse the story.

You will submit a 1000-word essay (+/- 10%) analysing the article to Turnitin. The essay should be written as a formal academic essay. In addition to the citation for your chosen story and a link to the story, you must integrate at least 3 scholarly sources, including 2 unit readings, and 1 additional source. Use APA style for in-text citations and your bibliography.

Submission:

The News Analysis will be submitted via the Turnitin link on iLearn as a PDF or Word document.

The criteria against which the News Analysis will be graded are:

- Suitability of news story
- Analysis and argument
- Application of theory and concepts
- Research and preparation
- Writing style and presentation
- Accuracy of APA referencing

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Understand and apply key theories of news and current affairs.
- Analyse historical and technological changes to news media.
- Evaluate the relationships between news, current affairs, politics and culture.
• Locate Australian news and current affairs within global media.

News Bulletin

Due: Week 11 and Week 13
Weighting: 50%

There are two components to this assessment: practical and written.

Practical - News Segment (20%)

In groups you will produce a television news story for a class news bulletin. Each group will produce a 90 to 120 second news package (story) for the television news format. Students will work collaboratively on this project from Week 5 to Week 11, incorporating news writing, production management, and audio/visual storytelling techniques. This project will incorporate digital camera operation, audio recording, and digital video and audio editing using desktop software. This part of the assessment is due in Week 11.

The criteria against which the News Bulletin practical component will be graded are:

• Identifying newsworthiness
• Research and preparation
• Understanding of news practices and story structure
• Technical proficiency in video and sound recording, and editing
• Effective and collaborative team work

Written - Reflection Essay (30%)

You will submit a 1200 word (+/- 10%) Reflection Essay that theorises your experience of producing the news bulletin by drawing on topics, theories and concepts from the unit. The reflection is intended to indicate what you have learnt from the process of developing a story pitch into a news bulletin. It should demonstrate your ability to make connections between theory and practice. The key is to link what you studied, discussed and read during the unit to what you did on a practical level.

You should provide examples from your experience with technical aspects of news production and working in a team, but should not simply describe the whole process. The Reflection Essay is more than a summary of what happened. It requires going beyond describing what we do to thinking about why we do things. In order to make these connections you need to incorporate at least 5 scholarly sources, including 3 unit readings and 2 additional scholarly sources. Include in-text citations and a bibliography in APA style. The assignment should be submitted to Turnitin in Week 13.

Submission:

The Reflection Essay will be submitted via the Turnitin link on iLearn as a PDF or Word document.

The criteria against which the News Bulletin written component will be graded:
This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Understand and apply key theories of news and current affairs.
- Engage in news production and newsroom practices.
- Analyse historical and technological changes to news media.
- Evaluate the relationships between news, current affairs, politics and culture.
- Locate Australian news and current affairs within global media.
- Reflect on practice and theory.

Delivery and Resources

Video Lectures

Video lectures will replace face-to-face lectures for this unit. They will be accessible on the iLearn page for the unit from Week 1 onwards. To get the most out of the seminars, students are required to watch the video lecture and complete the relevant readings prior to attending class.

Seminars

There are two-hour weekly seminars for this unit beginning in week 1. Seminars will include group discussions of the weekly topic and workshops related to news production. It is important that you complete the required readings for the week and watch the video lecture prior to attending the seminar so that you can contribute to the discussion and get the most out of workshop activities. The workshop components of the seminars will give you newsroom writing instruction and field experience. Toward the end of the session, seminar time will be devoted to the News Bulletin assignment.

You are required to attend all workshops. As participation in the process of learning is linked to and underpins the unit Learning Outcomes, you will need to either apply for Disruptions to Studies to cover any missed seminar (if the disruption is greater than three consecutive days) or supply appropriate documentation to your unit convenor for any missed seminar (if less than three consecutive days). Students are responsible for arranging access to missed seminar content.

Required Readings

The schedule of required readings is provided on the MAS203 iLearn. All required readings are accessible online via iLearn and/or Macquarie University Library. If a reading is unavailable or a web link is broken, please contact the convenor. Also contact the convenor if you have special requirements for accessing readings (for instance, visual impairment).

Other Recommended Reading or Viewing

If you want to develop a superior understanding of journalism you are encouraged to regularly engage in news consumption via a range of platforms. On social media, and follow major news outlets and a range of individual journalists. Watch out for new trends in news production and how news is being distributed. Listen to news radio when you’re in the car and watch ABC or SBS News. Diversify your viewing habits, for example watch NITV news for a perspective that is different from mainstream news. Become a news junkie.

Administrative Matters

All administrative matters are to be sent to Unit Convenor Dr Tai Neilson.

Consultations for Assessments

Seminar instructors will be available upon appointment for consultations related to the assessments.

Applying for Special Consideration:

Information on the Special Consideration Policy, and how to apply, is available here:

https://students.mq.edu.au/study/my-study-program/special-consideration

Re-Marks:

The Re-mark Application form is available at http://www.mq.edu.au/pubstatic/public/download/?id=167914

Technologies used:

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills
Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply key theories of news and current affairs.
• Engage in news production and newsroom practices.

Assessment tasks
• Story Pitch
• News Bulletin

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking
We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes
• Understand and apply key theories of news and current affairs.
• Analyse historical and technological changes to news media.
• Evaluate the relationships between news, current affairs, politics and culture.
• Locate Australian news and current affairs within global media.
• Reflect on practice and theory.

Assessment tasks
• News Analysis
• News Bulletin

Problem Solving and Research Capability
Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes
• Understand and apply key theories of news and current affairs.
• Engage in news production and newsroom practices.
• Reflect on practice and theory.

Assessment tasks
• Story Pitch
Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome
- Engage in news production and newsroom practices.

Assessment tasks
- Story Pitch
- News Bulletin

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes
- Engage in news production and newsroom practices.
- Reflect on practice and theory.

Assessment tasks
- Story Pitch
- News Analysis
- News Bulletin

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:
Learning outcomes

• Analyse historical and technological changes to news media.
• Evaluate the relationships between news, current affairs, politics and culture.
• Locate Australian news and current affairs within global media.

• News Analysis
• News Bulletin

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

• Analyse historical and technological changes to news media.
• Evaluate the relationships between news, current affairs, politics and culture.
• Locate Australian news and current affairs within global media.
• Reflect on practice and theory.

Assessment tasks

• News Analysis
• News Bulletin

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:
