General Information

Unit convenor and teaching staff Convenor Joanna Mitchell joanna.mitchell@mq.edu.au Consultation by appointment
Credit points 3
Prerequisites
Corequisites LAWS510 or LAWS516 or LAWS519 or LAWS562 or LAWS569 or LAWS586 or LAWS587
Co-badged status This unit is co-taught with LAW888.
Unit description The intense interaction between different actors in the international system inevitably leads to opposing views on issues, as well as to conflict. This unit will consider traditional non-adversarial dispute settlement in the international system. It will then focus on how various international courts and tribunals resolve disputes in different areas of international law (such as trade, investment, human rights, and international criminal law). An ongoing question will be the effectiveness of these procedures, and the parties' compliance with the decisions of the different bodies.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.

Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions

Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.

Reflect on past and present international developments, and analyse and interpret such developments within the context of international dispute settlement.

Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

General Assessment Information

Late submissions

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests

Moderation

Detailed marking rubrics are available on iLearn. Failed papers will be double marked.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Class Participation	10%	No	OCS - see MQ timetable
Pleadings and legal advice	50%	No	5pm, 28 September 2018
Final Assessment	40%	No	5pm, 10 November 2018

Class Participation

Due: OCS - see MQ timetable

Weighting: 10%

Students are required to attend an on-campus session (two days). Students should enrol in a class via the MQ timetable.

It is expected that students will have read all the required readings for each week and will come to classes prepared to discuss the questions for each topic. Class participation marks will be based on the quality of contributions to discussion and, where relevant, the frequency of contributions; evidence of preparation for each topic; and performance in specific tasks set by the tutor (for instance, group work). Attendance alone will not attract any marks.

Students must attend both days.

A failure to meet these requirements will lead to a mark of zero for class participation unless: a) the student submits a successful application for special consideration AND b) submits work in lieu of the on campus session. Note that the on-campus session equates to 12 hours class time. Any work assigned in lieu of the on-campus session is estimated to take at least 12 hours to complete. It will also require a separate appointment with the Convenor to assess participation.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions
- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Pleadings and legal advice

Due: 5pm, 28 September 2018

Weighting: 50%

Students are required to complete a written task comprising two parts: a draft pleading for an international dispute and preparation of a legal advice. Students will be asked to demonstrate their skills in preparing an application in an international dispute and providing legal advice to a client.

Instructions will be posted on iLearn during Week 4.

The pleadings and legal advice:

- must be no more than 3,000 words (excluding footnotes)
- will be assessed against the rubric posted on iLearn
- must comply with the Australian Guide to Legal Citation (3 ed), available here: <http://mulr.law.unimelb.edu.au/go/AGLC3>
- are to be submitted via Turnitin.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions
- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.

- Reflect on past and present international developments, and analyse and interpret such developments within the context of international dispute settlement.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Final Assessment

Due: 5pm, 10 November 2018

Weighting: 40%

Students will be required to respond to problem questions based on a factual scenario. It will cover material in the prescribed readings, lectures or tutorials.

The assignment is designed to be answered within a 4 to 6 hour window. The assignment is available over a 32 hour period to allow for obligations (e.g. work, family and other commitments) within that window.

The questions will be released at 9am on Friday 9 November 2018 and is due 5pm on Saturday 10 November 2018.

The response to the problem questions:

- must be no more than 2,000 words (excluding footnotes)
- will be assessed against the rubric posted on iLearn
- is to be submitted via Turnitin.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Delivery and Resources

Technology Used

An iLearn page will be available for this unit and includes information vital for the successful completion of this unit. Internet access is therefore required to undertake this unit. Topical items will be posted on iLearn for discussion and engagement with the unit content.

The Pleadings/Legal Advice and Final Assessment must be submitted via turnitin.

Delivery

Lectures on each of the 12 topics will be pre-recorded and available on iLearn (through Echo). The schedule of topics to be covered in the lectures is available on iLearn and a list is available below (unit schedule).

This Unit is delivered as a Block. There are no weekly tutorials. All students are required to attend one on-campus session (two days). The on-campus session is compulsory. Students should enrol in a class via the MQ timetable.

Students who are unable to attend the on-campus session must apply for a special consideration. If that application is approved, alternative work will be set in lieu of on-campus attendance. Note that the on-campus session equates to 12 hours class time. Any work assigned in lieu of the on-campus session is estimated to take at least 12 hours to complete. It will also require a separate appointment with the Convenor to assess participation.

Required Text

There is no prescribed text for this unit. Readings are available via the Library website and can easily be accessed via multi search by typing in the Unit course code. Where students are required to only read extracts from the readings, the relevant pages or sections are indicated on iLearn.

Recommended Texts

Students in this unit are expected to have access to internet sources to engage with learning and teaching in the unit and to prepare their assessment tasks.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions
- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.

Assessment task

- Class Participation

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Pleadings and legal advice
- Final Assessment

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Reflect on past and present international developments, and analyse and interpret such developments within the context of international dispute settlement.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Pleadings and legal advice

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions
- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.
- Reflect on past and present international developments, and analyse and interpret such developments within the context of international dispute settlement.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Pleadings and legal advice
- Final Assessment

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions
- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.
- Reflect on past and present international developments, and analyse and interpret such developments within the context of international dispute settlement.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Pleadings and legal advice
- Final Assessment

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions

- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Pleadings and legal advice
- Final Assessment

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Pleadings and legal advice
- Final Assessment

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify key actors and institutions involved in international dispute settlement and the legal principles governing that activity.
- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions

- Identify and apply relevant legal principles in international dispute settlement to develop solutions to current and emerging problems in international law.
- Reflect on past and present international developments, and analyse and interpret such developments within the context of international dispute settlement.
- Formulate and communicate different legal arguments having regard to a range of international perspectives.

Assessment tasks

- Class Participation
- Pleadings and legal advice
- Final Assessment

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Evaluate and critique the operation of international courts and tribunals and the actions of stakeholders in engaging (or not) with those institutions

Changes from Previous Offering

Unit delivered as a Block in 2018. Changes to assessment: In Class presentation removed; research task adapted to incorporate drafting legal pleadings.
