Unit description

This unit introduces key themes and theorists in contemporary social and political theory. In particular, it will explore competing diagnoses and responses to the winding back of the post-war compromises between democratic states and corporate capitalism. Rather than taking a serial approach to a study of social and political theories, the unit will focus on their, at times diametrically opposed, configurations of this broad problem complex. In an epoch in which neoliberal agendas have both provoked, and perhaps also been facilitated by, the surge of populist politics across the globe, we look to contemporary social and political theories to help us make sense of new developments, to diagnose their costs and unravel future potentials. Can social democratic reformism survive the era of Trump, Brexit and Hanson? Organised as a workshop series, the unit will draw from leading theorists such as: Agamben, Balibar, Boltanski, Brown, Chakrabarty, Fraser, Foucault, Habermas, Honneth. Examining a problematic that is of foundational importance in much current social and political research, this unit is relevant to students across the humanities and social sciences. It will extend and complement the existing Mres units SOCI703, 'Social Theory and Policy', POIR704 'Global Political Economy' and can be taken as a progression or stand-alone unit.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Articulate a clear and coherent argument in written form to a variety of audiences

Think critically and make informed judgements of the arguments of others to arrive and reasoned and meaningful arguments and apply new ideas to new contexts

Demonstrate the ability to apply accumulated knowledge and skills to make decisions in the context of professional practice and scholarship

Demonstrate high standards of ethical conduct in research activities and relationship

General Assessment Information

The unit will combine short lectures from each of three staff and inclusive seminar discussions on each of the topics. The assessment tasks follow a scaffolding design in which each task builds upon and extends the previous one.

As a graduate class, students will be expected to not only comprehend and have the capacity to reproduce complex theoretical approaches, they will be required to develop the capacity to rationally arbitrate on the value and the success of different theoretical approaches to the same 'problem complex': the rise of neoliberal market thinking and the demise of social democratic expectations. This capacity to critically evaluate and compare the success and worth of major social and political theories will be assessed in the major research essay.

Late Penalty Policy

Unless a Disruption to Studies request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Participation Assessment	30%	No	Week 6 & Week 13
Theory Choice: A Defence	20%	No	Friday Week 9
Research Essay	50%	No	Friday Week 13

Participation Assessment

Due: Week 6 & Week 13

Weighting: 30%

You will be required to complete a workbook that includes your annotations of the set readings and your reflections on the weekly topic. The workbook will take the form of a weekly blog, visible only to you and the markers. It will be assessed on what it shows of your preparation for and contributions to the weekly seminars. You should aim to write at least 1.5 pages, but no more than 2 pages per entry, in advance of the seminar session.

Workbooks will be reviewed in Week 6, and submitted for final grading by 5pm on Friday of Week 13.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Think critically and make informed judgements of the arguments of others to arrive and reasoned and meaningful arguments and apply new ideas to new contexts
- Demonstrate the ability to apply accumulated knowledge and skills to make decisions in the context of professional practice and scholarship
- Demonstrate high standards of ethical conduct in research activities and relationship

Theory Choice: A Defence

Due: Friday Week 9

Weighting: 20%

Students will be required to offer a short defence of the theory(ies) they find best able to make sense of and guide us through the problem complex that is our key topic. This task, reflection on the theory choice for the research essays, will be under constant discussion in class.

Essay Format: Formal essay in style. Font: Times New Roman or Palatino Linotype; Font size: 12; Line spacing: min 1.5; Margins: Left: 3cm; Right: 3cm; Top: 2.5cm; Bottom: 2.5cm. Your submission should be fully and appropriately referenced. Submission is through Turnitin.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Articulate a clear and coherent argument in written form to a variety of audiences
- Think critically and make informed judgements of the arguments of others to arrive and reasoned and meaningful arguments and apply new ideas to new contexts
- Demonstrate high standards of ethical conduct in research activities and relationship

Research Essay

Due: Friday Week 13

Weighting: 50%

Students are required to produce a 4,000 word research-based essay that compares the approach of two of the theorists or topics discussed in the unit. The essay must be fully referenced according to the style set for the unit.

You should discuss your proposed topics, approach, and schedule with one of the staff by week 8. The essay must be submitted via Turnitin by Friday of Week 13.

Essay Format: Formal essay in style. Font: Times New Roman or Palatino Linotype; Font size: 12; Line spacing: min 1.5; Margins: Left: 3cm; Right: 3cm; Top: 2.5cm; Bottom: 2.5cm.

On successful completion you will be able to:

Delivery and Resources

Technologies used. This unit has a presence on iLearn (ilearn.mq.edu.au) and you will be required to have regular access to a reliable broadband internet connection and a computer.

Format: The unit will combine short lectures from each of three staff and inclusive seminar discussions on each of the topics. The assessment tasks follow a scaffolding design in which each task builds upon and extends the previous one.

Workbook: a workbook/blog is set up under Assessments for you to use. Your entries will not be visible to any other student.

Readings: You will find these listed on the unit's iLearn page. Where possible, readings will be provided through Unit Readings in the Library, or will be directly made available in the required session on the iLearn page.
