Participation

Due: Continuous

Weighting: 20%

Students will be continuously assessed on their contribution to the Hebrew C learning community. Contributions may be on the iLearn site and/or in class. Students will also be expected to participate in the class Wiki. A rubric for participation may be found on the iLearn site.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- • Develop and build awareness of the diversity of ancient Northwest Semitic languages
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Read old Hebrew script
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Homework tasks

Weighting: 20%

Students will complete set homework tasks, including preparing texts to read and parse in class.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Develop and build awareness of the diversity of ancient Northwest Semitic languages
- • Recognise, memorise and learn advanced vocabulary and grammar
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Exegesis essay

Due: Thursday, Week 10

Weighting: 30%

Students will write an exegesis essay on ONE of the following passages: Genesis 1, Judges 3, Judges 4, Ruth 1, Jonah 1.

The purpose of this assessment task is to develop analytical skills, and independent thinking and research skills. You will be required to provide an analysis of specific literary features appearing in a biblical passage, and how the interpretation of the passage is influenced through translational approaches. Length limit: 1000 words, including analysis, references, and bibliography. It is recommended that students consult a minimum of FOUR biblical commentaries when researching their exegesis essay. Students may demonstrate their research initiative by searching for additional bibliography through the university library website. Useful journals to explore include the Journal for Biblical Literature, Vetus Testamentum, Journal of Hebrew Scriptures and Journal for the Study of the Old Testament.

The assessment criteria against which this task will be assessed are accuracy, critical thinking, research initiative, thoroughness, clarity of presentation and expression, and effective use of referencing and bibliography.

Further instructions and advice for writing an exegesis essay may be found on the iLearn site, and there will be further information on this topic in the Week 5 lecture.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Recognise, memorise and learn advanced vocabulary and grammar
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Understand the difference between “exegesis” and “hermeneutics”
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Take home test

Due: Week 13

Weighting: 30%

In Week 13, students will complete a take home test. The test will include questions on vocabulary and grammar, parsing of texts, recognition of inscriptions, document analysis, and short essays.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Recognise, memorise and learn advanced vocabulary and grammar
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Understand the difference between “exegesis” and “hermeneutics”
- • Read old Hebrew script
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Delivery and Resources

A two hour lecture is delivered most weeks of the semester. Lectures are recorded. Students are strongly advised to attend (or listen to) all classes, unless they are unwell, in which case please just stay home and get better. Please see Special Consideration for more information on this below.

The iLearn site is an important resource for class discussion and accessing extra learning materials. Students are required to have regular access to a computer and the internet. Mobile devices alone may not be sufficient. For technical support go to: http://mq.edu.au/about_us/offices_and_units/informatics/help For student quick guides on the use of iLearn go to: <http://mq.edu.a>

Reading requirements

The text to be used is Elementary Biblical Hebrew: An Introductory Grammar. G. Athas & I. M. Young. Fifth Edition. (Croydon Park, NSW: Ancient Vessel Press, 2016). It is available for purchase from Reformers Bookshop, and can be ordered from them online:

<http://reformers.org.au/> The textbook can be posted to students from the bookstore for an additional cost.

As we read and analyse biblical passages, it will be useful for students to have a Bible.

What Bible version should I use? It is best to work from a more “literal” translation of the Bible such as the New Revised Standard Version, or the English Standard Version. There are many suitable Bibles, so if in doubt, ask. Online websites such as Bible Gateway provide free access to multiple versions. While a dynamic equivalence translation like the Good News Bible is great for reading, it is harder to see the contours of the original texts and so is not so useful for scholarly work.

Online glossary of terms used in Biblical Studies: <http://www.read-the-bible.org/glossary.html>

Additional reading materials to assist with inscriptions and other readings will be distributed throughout the semester in class and online.

Unit Schedule

From week 1, we continue to work through the course textbook. In weeks 1-13, we will read and analyse passages of the Hebrew Bible, beginning with narrative and moving towards more challenging texts, such as poetry. We will then move to broaden students' knowledge of the Northwest Semitic languages through inscriptions. Finally (time permitting) there will be a brief introduction to biblical Aramaic, through reading excerpts from the Book of Daniel.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- • Recognise, memorise and learn advanced vocabulary and grammar
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Assessment tasks

- Homework tasks
- Exegesis essay
- Take home test

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Understand the difference between “exegesis” and “hermeneutics”
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Assessment tasks

- Participation

- Take home test

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Develop and build awareness of the diversity of ancient Northwest Semitic languages
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Assessment tasks

- Participation
- Homework tasks
- Exegesis essay

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Develop and build awareness of the diversity of ancient Northwest Semitic languages
- • Recognise, memorise and learn advanced vocabulary and grammar
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries

- • Read old Hebrew script
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Assessment tasks

- Participation
- Homework tasks
- Exegesis essay
- Take home test

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Recognise, memorise and learn advanced vocabulary and grammar
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Write a scholarly exegesis of biblical passages and analyse literary techniques
- • Read old Hebrew script
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community

Assessment tasks

- Participation
- Homework tasks
- Exegesis essay
- Take home test

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Develop and build awareness of the diversity of ancient Northwest Semitic languages
- • Recognise, memorise and learn advanced vocabulary and grammar
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- • Integrate knowledge of grammar and vocabulary in reading advanced Hebrew texts
- • Develop and build awareness of the diversity of ancient Northwest Semitic languages
- • Explore and appraise relevant grammatical and lexical reference tools, including biblical commentaries
- • Read old Hebrew script
- • Develop as independent learners and build a positive learning community
