Unit description

This distance education unit is designed for non-native speakers of Polish who have already acquired an intermediate level knowledge of the Polish language and who wish to foreground and expand their existing Polish language skills, particularly reading comprehension, before venturing onto the more difficult PLH324 Advanced Polish unit. It focuses on a series of Polish literary and non-literary texts to equip students with skills in critical reading, textual analysis, and writing. Poetry and excerpts from Polish canonical novels will be used for exploring different styles of writing in an analytical way. The unit is divided into two main areas of focus: the first centres around skills in reading and writing about Polish literary texts; the second deals with Polish newspaper articles to help students understand how the information is organized in a distinctive way and how the ideas are conveyed through the deployment of newspaper language to present, and engage with, contemporary issues in Poland. Elements of Polish grammar are interwoven into the texture of the texts studied.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Ability to read a range of literary and non-literary texts, including poetry, prose narratives and newspaper articles (in the Polish language and in translation); to recognise specific language features used to convey meaning, to identify different methods of characterization, and to understand various aspects of newspaper articles, such as the type, the presentation of ideas, the positioning of points of view and the style.

Ability to develop critical reading skills and competence in interpretive analysis; to develop and justify one's interpretation of a text by identifying ideas, themes and values, and by responding to implied points of view.

An increased awareness of different kinds and forms of Polish literary texts and an appreciation of their cultural specificity and richness; an understanding of some of the contemporary issues in Poland today through reading Polish press.

Ability to demonstrate comprehension of spoken discourse by native speakers in video segments.

Ability to provide answers to specific questions related to the set texts; to construct critical responses to a text, to complete a range of grammatically specific exercises, and to be able to flexibly write sentences including targeted vocabulary.

Expansion of knowledge of grammar which students should already be familiar with (in particular, adjectival and adverbial participles).

An increased awareness of areas of vocabulary that are useful in a wide range of situations. This involves a consideration of collocations, idiomatic expressions, proverbs, as well as particles. Some of the vocabulary in prescribed texts is formal and used for specific rhetorical and political purposes (e.g., in newspaper articles).

Ability to effectively participate in online sessions, on campus sessions and associated activities.

General Assessment Information

Specific instructions, detailed grading standards (such as rubrics) and indicative examples of assessment tasks are provided in the iLearn unit.

Please note that all assessment due dates and times are based on Australian Eastern Standard Time (AEST).

Electronic submission

Unless otherwise approved, all text-based assessment tasks will be submitted electronically using the University's electronic learning management system.

Use of plagiarism detection software

Text-based work submitted by students for assessment will be subject to plagiarism detection software, such as Turnitin or similar approved software, unless otherwise approved.

Plagiarism detection methods are to be used on a routine basis to check student work or when plagiarism is suspected.

Late Assessment Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Special Consideration Policy

All assessment tasks are compulsory and must be submitted on time. Students unable to meet due dates must apply for 'Special Consideration' via ask.mq.edu.

Zoom tutorials

There are no on-campus sessions for this unit. However, there are weekly Zoom tutorials that run for 60 minutes maximum conducted every Wednesday at 4pm AEST aimed to discuss the set texts, and also to practise vocabulary and grammar. Participation in these tutorials is not compulsory, but highly recommended. Students are encouraged to use the General Discussion Forum on iLearn to communicate with each other and to discuss and exchange ideas.

Students who experience difficulties or have any questions concerning the course should contact the unit convenor for guidance either by email or in person during the unit consultation hour or by appointment.

TECHNOLOGY USED AND REQUIRED

Online Unit

The on-line component includes: Important information about assignments, Residential School and Polish Educational Scholarship Forms.

Login is via: <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au/>

Is my unit in iLearn?: <http://help.ilearn.mq.edu.au/unitsonline/> to check when your online unit will become available.

Technology

Students are required to have regular access to a computer and the internet. Mobile devices alone are not sufficient.

For students attending classes on campus we strongly encourage that you bring along your own laptop computer, ready to work with activities in your online unit. The preferred operating system is Windows 10.

Students are required to access the online unit in iLearn by the end of Week 1 and follow any relevant instructions and links for downloads that may be required. If applicable, students are required to download the relevant language package prior to Week 2.

Please contact your course convenor before the end of Week 1 if you do not have a suitable laptop (or tablet) for in-class use.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
