Unit description

This unit is a continuation of CHN148. It further consolidates and develops students' skills in the four of the language. Topics introduced in this unit include: describing a place one has been to, exchanging money, taking public transport, talking about a past experience, talking about hobbies, asking about directions, and more. More complex grammatical constructions will be introduced such as the comparative construction, verbal complements, the Ba constructions, and the passive constructions. Through the unit students will also gain a greater understanding of various Chinese cultural aspects such as the transport system, famous historical sites, and holidays and festivals in China.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Participation

Due: Throughout the semester

Weighting: 10%

Internal Students:

This mark is decided by teaching staff based on students' active participation in class discussion. Students are expected to be well prepared in order to participate in class discussion – this will ensure good use of class time as well as improving your learning skills.

External Students:

Record an audio or video clip of you reading out aloud the textbook conversation for the lesson learnt in that week then submit it on ilearn at set time frame on weekly basis. You can also choose to read other texts at your interests (e.g, a poem or some song lyrics) of at least 70-100 characters long in replacing textbook conversation, up to 3 times in this semester. Please see iLearn for instruction on submission of the recording.

An Zoom web conference will be organized every week at a set time from week 3 to provide face-to-face meeting with teachers after students register their interests in the 1st week. Students should take this opportunity to ask questions to teaching staff and communicate with classmates. Students need to register at least 2 sessions for their web conference.

Listening to the practical recording, active participation in forum and talking to teaching staff at consultation hours are very important for all external students.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- 1.1 Able to recognize components of a character such as basic radicals. 1.2 Able to recognize 300-500 characters. 1.3 Understand longer and more complex dialogues and texts written in Chinese characters of topics related to Chinese society and culture and day to day life, such as making a travel plan and making suggestions. 1.4 Able to understand basic grammatical structures, and sentence types.

- 3.1 Able to write a character in the correct order. 3.2 Able to write 300-500 characters
3.3 Able to produce more complex sentences and reasonably well-connected dialogues or passages on familiar topics such as describing one's travel, shopping, cultural experiences, an incident, a scenery, making suggestions and plans, with some deviation from standard grammar and syntax. 3.4 Able to translate more complex sentences and short passages from English to Chinese, using characters, with some deviation from standard grammar and syntax.
- 4.1 Able to ask and answer questions on matters of a concrete type such as when traveling in a place where the language is spoken. 4.2 Manage simple, routine exchanges without much difficulty. 4.3 Interact with reasonable ease in structured situations and short conversations on very familiar topics.
- 5.1 Able to produce more complex and well-connected sentences on simple and familiar topics. 5.2 Able to present a per-prepared dialogue or passage on familiar topics in front of the class without looking at scripts.
- 6.1 To gain the ability to understand cultural differences, especially in areas such as terms of address, greetings, social relationships, etc.

Online Vocabulary Quiz

Due: Week 2,3,4,5,6,8,9,10,11,12

Weighting: 10%

Weekly online vocab quizzes on vocabulary, phrases and short sentences, only available to access at set time frame before practicals start, in order to prepare for the lessons to be learnt on practicals.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- 1.1 Able to recognize components of a character such as basic radicals. 1.2 Able to recognize 300-500 characters. 1.3 Understand longer and more complex dialogues and texts written in Chinese characters of topics related to Chinese society and culture and day to day life, such as making a travel plan and making suggestions. 1.4 Able to understand basic grammatical structures, and sentence types.

experiences, an incident, a scenery, making suggestions and plans, with some deviation from standard grammar and syntax. 3.4 Able to translate more complex sentences and short passages from English to Chinese, using characters, with some deviation from standard grammar and syntax.

- 6.1 To gain the ability to understand cultural differences, especially in areas such as terms of address, greetings, social relationships, etc.

Writing activity

Due: Week 2, 4, 6, 10 and 12

Weighting: 25%

Totally 5 written activities including translation and writing throughout the semester. Details of each activity will be available on iLearn only when weekly grammar quizzes are scored 80% or over. All works need to be downloaded and finished by handwriting.

Submission: Internal students: submit it on iLearn via assignment dropbox of chosen weeks.

External students: scan your finished work and upload to assignment dropbox which is available on iLearn. (If you do not have access to scanner, "CamScanner" is a free App for generating a pdf document by using your phone.)

- All works must be completed by hand writing at the times set and must be submitted on time.
- Please note that 80% correctness of a weekly grammar quiz (non-assessable) will be the pre-condition to access to the writing activity information. The weekly grammar quiz is different to Vocabulary Quizzes. It is not only a revision for grammar and vocabulary you learnt in class but also a scaffolding activity leading to the successful completion of your writing works with high quality. Details on iLearn can be found.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- 1.1 Able to recognize components of a character such as basic radicals. 1.2 Able to recognize 300-500 characters. 1.3 Understand longer and more complex dialogues and texts written in Chinese characters of topics related to Chinese society and culture and day to day life, such as making a travel plan and making suggestions. 1.4 Able to understand basic grammatical structures, and sentence types.

Delivery and Resources

Delivery

Day and External

Internal students

Students attend 2 x 2 hour sessions per week: first session Practical, second session Tutorial. There are no lectures. Please go to eStudent to register in one of the classes on offer. The classes are streamed, which means you must attend the same 2x2 hour classes each week with the same group. If you have a clash and need to change classes, please speak to the teaching staff.

We recommend that you arrive on time so you do not miss out on important information given at the start of a class. We encourage students to come to as many classes as possible to facilitate the best learning experience possible.

External students

You should be committed to study the weekly content by following the instructions on iLearn within the week and finish the assessment online in the same week. This will keep you on track in this very intensive course.

Required unit materials and required

The required textbook:

New Practical Chinese Reader (Textbook) Book 2 and Workbook (Book 2) (2nd edition).

Technology required

Standard requirements include a computer and internet access to interact with the teaching materials on iLearn.

Online Unit

Login is via: <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au/>

Is my unit in iLearn?: <http://help.ilearn.mq.edu.au/unitsonline/> to check when your online unit will become available.

Internal students

Students are required to have regular access to a computer and the internet. Mobile devices alone are not sufficient.

For students attending classes on campus we strongly encourage that you bring along your own laptop computer, ready to work with activities in your online unit. The preferred operating system is Windows 10.

Students are required to access the online unit in iLearn by the end of Week 1 and follow any relevant instructions and links for downloads that may be required. If applicable, students are required to download the relevant language package prior to Week 2.

Please contact your course convenor before the end of Week 1 if you do not have a suitable laptop (or tablet) for in-class use.

External students will need to have access to a webcam, headphones as well as a microphone for use during recording with Zoom which they can download for free from the internet. We recommend you use Firefox which has been reliable with respect to media files used in the course. The correct functioning of internet connection and network is the student's sole responsibility.

Information on Zoom web conferencing tool for external students is available at <http://www.mq.edu.au/iLearn/zoom.htm>. External students are required to get familiar with this tool and install it to your study device by week 1, e.g. your computer or iPad.

IT and iLearn assistance is available via the iLearn login page or by clicking on the words "Help me" under the iLearn logo at the top right hand side of every iLearn window.

Please note that replies to e-mails will be automatically directed to the account they were sent from. All new threads will be sent to your University account where you are free to supply the e-mail address of your choice. You are encouraged to use the University account rather than a private e-mail account and to check this account regularly for announcements and emails from the teaching staff.

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
