Unit description

This unit examines international trade both in theory and practice. It first reviews the theories related to inter- and intra-industry trade determination and the empirical evidence supporting them. It then examines trade policies, covering a wide range of topics, illustrated by up-to-date case studies. The unit has a policy approach and aims at also providing students with a good understanding of major trade issues around the world and the effects of globalisation on trade. It focuses on current applications of theoretical principles.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Knowledge and Understanding: Be conversant with major trade theories and policy measures.

Application and Critical Thinking: Evaluate the impact of trade-related issues on countries based on trade concepts and theories.

Ethical Thinking: Evaluate the impact of trade-related issues on countries with a focus on the tradeoffs between efficiency and equity.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Discussion	10%	No	Weekly
Class Test	20%	No	Week 7
Assignment	20%	No	3pm Sunday October 21
Final Exam	50%	No	University Examination Period

Discussion

Due: Weekly

Weighting: 10%

In week 1, groups of 3-4 students will be formed. Students are required to stick to your group for the whole semester. Each week, starting from week 2 during the workshop, each group will be given a question to discuss. One student from the group will present their discussion to the class. Another student from the same group will post the summary of the discussion plus the lecturer's feedback on the iLearn forum within a week. Each student is expected to i) present once or twice throughout the semester and ii) post the summary of the discussion plus the lecturer's feedback once or twice throughout the semester. Note that this is an individual assessment task. Students will be assessed based on the level of effort and the quality of presentation/posting. No presentation or posting throughout the session will result in a mark of zero.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Knowledge and Understanding: Be conversant with major trade theories and policy measures.
- Application and Critical Thinking: Evaluate the impact of trade-related issues on countries based on trade concepts and theories.

Class Test

Due: Week 7

Weighting: 20%

The class test will be held in week 7 and will include short-answer and long-answer questions based on lecture topics covered in weeks 1-6. It will be of 80 minutes duration. It may include calculations and diagrammatical illustrations. Further details will be provided in due course.

Students are allowed to bring in one A4 sheet of hand-written or printed notes (double-sided).

Failure to attend the class test will result in a mark of zero. Exceptions will be only made if an application for Special Consideration is made and approved. For further details, see the University's Special Consideration policy: <https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/special-consideration>.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Knowledge and Understanding: Be conversant with major trade theories and policy measures.
- Application and Critical Thinking: Evaluate the impact of trade-related issues on countries based on trade concepts and theories.

Assignment

Due: 3pm Sunday October 21

Weighting: 20%

The assignment will include application/discussion questions regarding current trade issues related to the trade-off between efficiency and equity. Students will be provided with a set of academic/news articles. Further details will be provided before the mid-session break.

Students will have to complete and submit the assignment online by 3pm Sunday October 21 through Turnitin on the ECON847 iLearn website.

Late submission will receive a deduction of 10% of the total marks for each 24-hour period that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission - 20% penalty). Submissions will not be accepted beyond 72 hours past the deadline. This penalty does not apply if an application for Special Consideration is made and approved. For further details, see the University's Special Consideration policy: <https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/special-consideration>.

Important Notice: Any student whose submission is not his/her own work will be automatically given a mark of zero. Students will also face serious disciplinary action, which may include an automatic failure of ECON847 and the possible exclusion from Macquarie University. Students should be aware that Turnitin will be used to determine the originality of the submitted work. Students are also expected to be familiar with the University's Academic Integrity policy: <https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/academic-honesty>.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Knowledge and Understanding: Be conversant with major trade theories and policy measures.
- Application and Critical Thinking: Evaluate the impact of trade-related issues on countries based on trade concepts and theories.
- Ethical Thinking: Evaluate the impact of trade-related issues on countries with a focus on the tradeoffs between efficiency and equity.

Final Exam

Due: University Examination Period

Weighting: 50%

The final exam will be held during the university examination period. Note that it is students' responsibility to find out the date, time and location of the final exam for ECON847.

The final exam will include short-answer and long-answer questions based on all topics covered throughout the semester. It will be of 2 hours duration. It may include calculations and diagrammatical illustrations. Further details will be provided in due course.

Students are allowed to bring in one A4 sheet of hand-written or printed notes (double-sided).

Failure to attend the final exam will result in a mark of zero. Exceptions will be only made if an application for Special Consideration is made and approved. For further details, see the University's Special Consideration policy: <https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/special-consideration>.

Importance Notice: It is Macquarie University Policy to not schedule any final examinations before the official examination period. Therefore, DO NOT organise any travel within the official examination period as all requests will be rejected.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Knowledge and Understanding: Be conversant with major trade theories and policy measures.
- Application and Critical Thinking: Evaluate the impact of trade-related issues on countries based on trade concepts and theories.

Delivery and Resources

Each week there will be a three-hour face-to-face session. Each session will typically consist of a two-hour lecture and an hour workshop. It is strongly recommended that students attend ALL lectures and workshops. For time and location, please check the university timetable: http://students.mq.edu.au/student_admin/timetables.

Lecture slides will be posted on iLearn prior to each week's lecture. For topics to be covered, see the unit schedule below. Students are required to read each week's reading material.

Workshops start in week 2. During each workshop, we will discuss questions regarding the lecture topics from the previous week. Questions will be posted on iLearn after each lecture. Students will discuss these questions with their group members and present their discussion results. See 'Assessment Task: Discussion' above for details. Answers to these questions will be provided only during the workshop. Additional readings may be provided on iLearn prior to the workshop in order to enhance the quality of discussion.
