Unit description
This unit surveys the evolution of Western thought from major philosophical perspectives (from Homer to Sartre) and their relevance for management. What is important about a philosophical perspective is not what it explains, but what it assumes. Three assumptions ground the unit: a) managing is essentially a philosophical activity because human existence is interpreted through diverse perspectives; b) management training needs to be combined with management education. To train is to drill and subordinate individuals to routines, standards and practices. To educate is to liberate a person's intellectual, moral and aesthetic powers. c) managers and leaders need to have the critical skills to debate, reflect, and engage in dialogue across different functional disciplines, stakeholders and cultures in organisational contexts.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- apply philosophical perspectives to the task of leading, motivating and communicating effectively across diverse teams in an organisation;
- apply various forms of critical reflection to management decision-making;
- use different philosophical perspectives to respond appropriately to a wide range of different cultures and perspectives;

evaluate their own attitudes to ethical, social and environmental factors which affect an organisation, through a comparative analysis of Western ethical systems.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Other assessments	40%	No	Please see below
Final examination	60%	No	MGSM Term 1 exam week

Other assessments

Due: Please see below

Weighting: 40%

This assessment component will consist of the following:

Other assessment 1: Individual class quiz

Duration: 15 minutes

Due: From 6:20pm to 6:35pm of session 5 of class

This is a short individual class quiz assessment that will be based on content taught in sessions 1-4.

Other assessment 2: Group assignment

Length: Maximum of 3000 words

Due: Submission in iLearn on or before 5:00pm (Sydney Time) of Friday, 16 March 2018

"What entitles you to believe that your practices for managing or being managed are in fact acts of managing rather than say acts of manipulation or exploitation?" In order to answer this question, you will need to use at least two definitions: one of management and one of either manipulation or exploitation. You will then need to draw on the works of at least two philosophers to critique the concepts and demonstrate and justify how the concepts relate to your experience.

As part of the Macquarie University group assessment policy, individual performance within a group assessment must also be assessed. Each member of their group must clearly identify which element of the group assignment is their individual contribution by putting their names in brackets next to section heading of their parts. Assessment of individual performance within this group assessment will be based on the identified individual contributions, and will constitute half of the total assessment weighting for this assessment (subject to the final decision of the lecturer).

The marking criteria for the group presentation assessment will be made available in class.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- apply philosophical perspectives to the task of leading, motivating and communicating effectively across diverse teams in an organisation;
- apply various forms of critical reflection to management decision-making;
- use different philosophical perspectives to respond appropriately to a wide range of different cultures and perspectives;
- evaluate their own attitudes to ethical, social and environmental factors which affect an organisation, through a comparative analysis of Western ethical systems.

Final examination

Due: MGSM Term 1 exam week

Weighting: 60%

Duration: 3 hours plus 10 minutes reading time

Format: Closed book final examination

Date: MGSM Term 1 exam week: 19-24 March 2018

You are expected to present yourself for examination at the time and place designated in the MGSM examination timetable. The timetable will be available on 30 January 2018 at <https://students.mgsm.edu.au/sydney-students/units/exams/>

The final examination will be closed book and concern all the material from the entire unit. The specific format of the exam will be explained in the last class of the term.

- apply various forms of critical reflection to management decision-making;
- use different philosophical perspectives to respond appropriately to a wide range of different cultures and perspectives;
