Unit description

This unit builds on the skills and knowledge developed in CWPG810 and CWPG811, with a focus on the short story in its evolving forms, including the long short story and novella, the short story sequence and cycle, and micro and 'short short' stories. In addition to the weekly writing workshops, we read works by Australian and international writers including Tim Winton, Alice Munro, Peter Goldsworthy, and Molly Ringwald; we investigate technique and craft, and consider the form's history and current scholarly debates, reader response theory, publishing trends, new medias and book futures. Students develop a critical awareness of the broader national and international contexts in which their writing is to take a place; devise a project of their own choice; and are encouraged toward publication.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Demonstrated problem solving skills in the planning, revision, editing and completion of creative works, to a publishable standard.

Applied new understandings and critically reflective practice to creative writing and reading of the genres of short fiction or creative nonfiction, novella, short story or poetic sequence.

Applied technical creative writing terms, vocabulary and narrative studies concepts, in order to consider craft and technique.

Able to assess and critically evaluate a range of writing and other production values in contemporary Australian journals to determine their interest and value.

Developed communication skills in the context of writing workshop discussion and discussion of literary texts and issues arising from those readings.

Use and understanding of digital and print technologies, and the development of digital literacies.

General Assessment Information

The importance of Participation for Assessment and passing the unit.

It is an assessment requirement of this unit that students participate weekly. Without participation, the Learning Outcomes of the unit cannot be achieved. Missed weeks must be explained with a medical certificate relating to urgent or unavoidable circumstances; or in the case of employment demands, a letter from the employer. Marks are deducted from the Participation mark for undocumented absences. Students whose participation is unsatisfactory for more than 2 weeks for ongoing medical reasons, may apply to the University for Withdrawal without Penalty from the unit. Students who do not satisfactorily participate online (External) on a weekly basis, or do not attend class each week (Internal) without valid documentation, will receive a Fail grade. If you have any concerns about your participation, contact the lecturer.

Assessment tasks

Assessment tasks are designed to encourage students to develop familiarity and skills as emerging and developing writers through the inter-related practice of creative writing, reading, and discussion. The varied assessment tasks focus on these three skills and aim to develop them in inter-related ways.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Participation	15%	No	Weekly 1-12
Writing Exercises	15%	No	Weeks 2, 4, 8
Journal Report	25%	No	Week 10
Creative Writing Assignment	45%	No	Week 13

Participation

Due: Weekly 1-12

Weighting: 15%

Assessment is based on the quality and relevancy of participation.

- Class or online discussion; listening to the lectures, reading the set texts and evidencing your engagement through discussion and posts that refer clearly to the set texts, themes and topics;
- Maintaining a regular creative writing practice, evidenced through your workshop submissions;
- Reading and commenting on other students' creative work in the workshops, employing concepts and vocabularies discussed in the topics, readings and lectures;

See the Unit Handbook and iLearn for further details of this assessment component.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Applied new understandings and critically reflective practice to creative writing and reading of the genres of short fiction or creative nonfiction, novella, short story or poetic sequence.
- Developed communication skills in the context of writing workshop discussion and discussion of literary texts and issues arising from those readings.
- Use and understanding of digital and print technologies, and the development of digital literacies.

Writing Exercises

Due: Weeks 2, 4, 8

Weighting: 15%

Three writing exercises are to be completed, each worth 5%. The writing exercises are an opportunity to experiment with techniques and forms being discussed in this unit. See the Unit Handbook in the unit's iLearn site for the due dates for this activity.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrated problem solving skills in the planning, revision, editing and completion of creative works, to a publishable standard.
- Applied new understandings and critically reflective practice to creative writing and reading of the genres of short fiction or creative nonfiction, novella, short story or poetic sequence.

- Applied technical creative writing terms, vocabulary and narrative studies concepts, in order to consider craft and technique.

Journal Report

Due: Week 10

Weighting: 25%

Review an issue of an Australian journal of creative/literary/nonfiction writing published in the past 12 months. Maximum word length: 1,200 words. See the Unit Handbook at the unit's iLearn site for full details of this task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Applied new understandings and critically reflective practice to creative writing and reading of the genres of short fiction or creative nonfiction, novella, short story or poetic sequence.

- Developed communication skills in the context of writing workshop discussion and discussion of literary texts and issues arising from those readings.
- Use and understanding of digital and print technologies, and the development of digital literacies.

Creative Writing Assignment

Due: Week 13

Weighting: 45%

This assignment can be one work or a series of linked works e.g. a poetry cycle; a set of micro fictions; or linked sections of a novella. A poetry cycle will comprise 5-6 poems not more than 70 lines in total.

Your creative writing submission will be based on the writing of a new, original work undertaken during the Session. It should develop a workshop piece that you've received feedback on during the session.

See the Unit Handbook at the unit's iLearn site for details of this task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrated problem solving skills in the planning, revision, editing and completion of creative works, to a publishable standard.
