Unit description

This unit enables students to understand and analyze the highly influential discourse of strategic management. Starting with the premise that the ideas and practices of strategic management are far too significant to be reduced to a set of simplified tools or techniques, this unit draws upon a wide range of academic work across the fields of management, organization studies, and strategy to examine the topic. Using this research, strategic management is considered in terms of the social, political, ethical and global effects that it engenders and encourages in today's organised world. Students will have the opportunity to synthesize these areas of knowledge through analyzing the strategic lessons to be drawn from major organizational and societal events, including those of high-level corporate fraud and environmental crisis.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Critically assess the nature and origins of strategic management.

Identify and analyse strategic issues in a management context.

Demonstrate awareness of the major conceptualisations of strategic management.

Demonstrate awareness of contemporary ethical issues and challenges of strategic management.

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically assess the nature and origins of strategic management.
- Identify and analyse strategic issues in a management context.
- Demonstrate awareness of the major conceptualisations of strategic management.
- Demonstrate awareness of contemporary ethical issues and challenges of strategic management.

Assessment tasks

- Essay One
- Essay Two
- Final Examination

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate awareness of contemporary ethical issues and challenges of strategic management.

Assessment task

- Essay Two

Changes from Previous Offering

Two of the essential readings have been changed from the previous offering.

Global Contexts and Sustainability

This unit examines Strategic Management from a critical academic perspective. As such, we will be questioning the theories and practices of strategic management as much as learning them. A major aspect of this questioning will be an examination of the global, ethical and environmental impacts of dominant corporate strategies.

Research and Practice

This unit requires students to engage with contemporary and classic research texts on strategy, drawn from the leading management and strategy journals and texts. As such, the unit fosters student's abilities to read and understand published academic research on the subject area.
