Unit description

This unit examines the structure and issues relating to the legal governance regimes of business enterprises and provides the opportunity to develop research and written communication skills. At the core of the unit is an analysis of corporate governance frameworks including historical aspects, board structure and director's responsibilities. Also included is the consideration of the impact of stakeholder influence, market forces on the regulation of governance, and an examination of the ASX Corporate Governance Council Principles and Recommendations. The unit is primarily research oriented and students are required to undertake research in the area of corporate governance.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Analyse and comprehend the characteristics and framework of the legal system in which corporations function and in which they are governed.

Develop professional judgement in the various ways that companies are structured and how this affects the company's activities and impacts on management, insolvency and governance factors.

Critically evaluate key corporate governance and corporate social responsibility issues and as a result develop capacity to formulate responses to legal problems.

Analyse perspectives on corporate governance and through research critically examine governance issues.
