Unit description

This unit focuses on the institutional arrangements of public and private law and the role of the legal profession(s) in their administration. The unit covers the history and profile of the legal profession, the development of ethical reasoning and application of ethical systems to legal practice. Importantly the unit focuses on discrete problems of legal ethics such as confidentiality, access to justice, truth in the adversarial system, conflicts of interest and relationships between lawyers, clients and society. The unit introduces students to general skills of ethical problem solving and to the importance of sound communication skills for the practise of law.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Describe and explain the role of the lawyer in Australian society.

Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings.

Explain and apply the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia, including duties owed to the court, to the client, to practitioners, and to the community.

Explain and apply communication skills required for ethical practice, especially listening skills, interviewing skills, cross cultural communication skills and negotiation skills.

Apply the principles of plain English to written communication for a variety of audiences and in different formats.

Develop legal research skills, including the ability to search for relevant primary and secondary sources.

Identify and respond to legal ethical issues under time pressure.

General Assessment Information

Students should be aware of and apply the University policy on academic honesty.

All assessments are submitted electronically. Turnitin plagiarism detection software is used to check all written assessments.

Students should carefully check that they submit the correct file for an assessment as no submissions will be accepted after the due date and time, including instances where students upload an incorrect file in error.

Word limits are strictly applied. Work above the word limit will not be marked. Footnotes are to be used only for referencing. Referencing must conform to the requirements set out in the Australian Guide to Legal Citation.

Marking of all assessments is moderated through a process of blind marking and the use of detailed marking rubrics.

Participation

Due: weekly

Weighting: 20%

Internal and external students will be required to participate in tutorial role plays, problem solving discussions, debates, reflective exercises and other activities in face to face sessions. These activities will contribute to the development of student's skills. The skills required for client interviewing will be explained, demonstrated and practiced in tutorials in preparation for the video assessment.

Dates for the on campus session are the 23rd and 24th April 2019. External students should also undertake the readings and prepare the exercises for the tutorials, as this material will form the basis for the activities undertaken at the on campus session. More information on the structure of the on campus session will be provided closer to the time on ILearn. For external students, the on-campus session is compulsory. Students who are unable to attend must request special consideration. If that request is accepted, alternative work will be set in lieu of on-campus attendance.

A detailed marking rubric for class participation will be provided on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe and explain the role of the lawyer in Australian society.
- Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings.
- Explain and apply the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia, including duties owed to the court, to the client, to practitioners, and to the community.
- Explain and apply communication skills required for ethical practice, especially listening skills, interviewing skills, cross cultural communication skills and negotiation skills.
- Apply the principles of plain English to written communication for a variety of audiences and in different formats.
- Develop legal research skills, including the ability to search for relevant primary and secondary sources.
- Identify and respond to legal ethical issues under time pressure.

Professional relationships

Due: 15/03 5pm Externals 3/05 5pm

Weighting: 20%

This assessment is a personally recorded video of a client interview. The total video length is to be no more than 10 minutes. Details will be provided about specific skills to be demonstrated in the video.

Detailed marking rubrics for the assessment will be available on ILearn.

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe and explain the role of the lawyer in Australian society.
- Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings.

Final exam

Due: 5th June 3-9pm

Weighting: 30%

This is a time limited multiple choice exam of one hour to test students' understanding of the law of professional responsibility. All material from week 1 to week 12 is examinable.

Students can open the exam at any time after 3pm. The exam will automatically shut down at 9pm. Students will have one hour to complete their answers from the time that they open the paper. When one hour has expired, all saved answers will be automatically submitted.

Some of the questions will relate to a problem scenario that will be released for reading 24 hours prior to the quiz.

Full details will be released on iLearn.

This is a timed assessment and no late submissions will be accepted.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe and explain the role of the lawyer in Australian society.
- Explain and apply the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia, including duties owed to the court, to the client, to practitioners, and to the community.
- Develop legal research skills, including the ability to search for relevant primary and secondary sources.
- Identify and respond to legal ethical issues under time pressure.

Delivery and Resources

There are no "live" lectures for this unit. Weekly lectures are pre-recorded and presented in combination with other learning resources including readings, web content, e-learning modules and videos. Students are expected to listen to the lectures and work their way through the other materials on a weekly basis.

There is a weekly two hour face to face tutorial for internal students and a compulsory two day on campus session for external students.

The required text is: Lise Barry (ed) Lawyers: Roles, Skills and Responsibilities (Thomson Reuters, 3rd ed, 2017). Available from the Macquarie University Co-op Bookshop

Additional reading will be available via iLearn and the unit reading list maintained by the library.

Students require access to a computer and a secure and reliable server. All Unit requirements and a weekly teaching and reading schedule are outlined in iLearn.

All assessments are to be submitted electronically via Turnitin.

Unit Schedule

A more detailed schedule of readings, learning materials and tutorial topics is outlined on ILearn.

Tutorials begin in week 1

Topics will include:

- What it means to be a professional and an overview of the profession;
- Introduction to Legal Ethics and overview of regulation of the profession;
- Statutory Interpretation and delegated legislation;
- Duty to the client;
- Fiduciary duties and the duty of care;
- Conflicts of interest;
- Confidentiality and privilege;
- Duty to the court;
- Ethics in criminal law; duties to prosecutors and ethics in negotiations;
- Duty to the community; pro bono work and access to justice;

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
