Unit description

This unit provides an introduction to the tax framework operating in Australia. It looks at the regulatory environment and the impact of the conceptual framework on key areas of taxation including: income tax; goods and services tax; and fringe benefits tax. This unit enhances the ability of students to recognise, describe and analyse taxation issues and apply concepts to problems encountered in a contemporary setting.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to

simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
Develop a suitable set of tax management strategies for individuals and businesses at various stages;
Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;
Work collaboratively to solve legal problems related to taxation; and
Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Assessed coursework	10%	No	Twice Weekly
Online Quiz	10%	No	Friday, 13 December 2019
Take-home Assignment	20%	No	Friday, 10 January 2020
Final Examination	60%	No	University Examination Period

Assessed coursework

Due: Twice Weekly

Weighting: 10%

Task Description:

The Assessed Coursework is comprised of two components: weekly hand-written submissions to individual tutorial questions and presentations during tutorials.

- 1) Twice-weekly hand-written submissions to individual tutorial questions (4.5%)
- 2) Presentation during tutorials (5.5%)

Type of Collaboration: Individual Submission:

Hand-written responses to tutorial questions will be collected in class weekly prior to the commencement of the tutorial. No extensions will be granted. All 9 written submissions to Tutorial questions will be taken into account, and will be weighted at 0.5 marks for each submitted task (Total 4.5%)

The remaining 5.5% will be allocated for satisfactory presentations and discussion. A Presentation Feedback form will be used in awarding marks to each component of the presentations and class discussions.

Late Submission:

No extensions will be granted.

Students who do not submit their written responses prior to the deadline will be awarded a mark of zero for the task, except for cases in which an application for special consideration is made and approved.

Important Note: Students enrolled in the i-Lecture stream are expected to attend weekly tutorials and to participate in completing the "Assessed Coursework" components of this unit.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;
- Work collaboratively to solve legal problems related to taxation; and
- Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Online Quiz

Due: Friday, 13 December 2019

Weighting: 10%

Task Description: The online quiz covers material taught in Lectures 1, 2 and 3 and related tutorial questions. Type of Collaboration: Individual Submission: Due online, 13 December 2019. To be completed via iLearn. Format: Multiple Choice Questions Penalties:

Students who have not submitted the task prior to the deadline will be awarded a mark of '0' for the task, except for cases in which an application for special consideration is made and approved.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;

Take-home Assignment

Due: Friday, 10 January 2020

Weighting: 20%

Task Description: This is a take-home assignment. It will comprise a case study and/or an essay. The take-home assignment will cover Lecture topics 1-6 and related tutorial questions. It will require students to provide a detailed analysis of the tasks assigned, and an application of the taxation laws to arrive at a conclusion in the form of a piece of advice. Type of Collaboration: Individual Submission: Due online at 15:00 on Friday, 10 January 2020. All assignments must be submitted via Turn-it-in and the unit's iLearn facility. Format: A feedback report for this assessment task will be posted on iLearn.

The Take-home assignment will be posted on the unit's iLearn page at 14:00 on Monday, 6 January 2020.

Length: 1,500 words Penalties:

No extensions will be granted. There will be a deduction of 10% of the total available marks made from the total awarded mark for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission - 20% penalty).

This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for special consideration is made and approved.

Late Submission:

No submission will be accepted after solutions have been posted.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;
- Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Final Examination

Due: University Examination Period

Weighting: 60%

Task Description:

This assessment task is comprised of case study and essay type questions. The exam covers material taught in Lectures 6-13 and related tutorial questions. - (Partial open book).

Students should however note that the ability to compute tax liability or refund entitlement is an integral part of any tax unit. Students will therefore be expected to demonstrate an ability to apply the principles covered in Lectures 1-6 in the context of different taxpayers.

Type of Collaboration: Individual Submission: Formal Examination Conditions Apply.

Supplementary Examinations:

Where a supplementary examination is granted as a result of the special consideration process, the examination will be scheduled as per the Supplementary Examination timetable of the Faculty.

Please note that the supplementary examination will be of a similar format to the final examination.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to

- simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Develop a suitable set of tax management strategies for individuals and businesses at various stages;
 - Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;
 - Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Lectures and Tutorials

The main means of presentation is by way of 10 two-hour lectures and 9 weekly tutorials of one hour duration. Lectures cover the basic material as outlined in the listed topics, as well as noting where each topic fits into the overall framework of the tax regime. The Lectures will be recorded on Echo 360 on a weekly basis.

Each lecture outlines (PowerPoint slides) will also be posted on i-Learn prior to the formal lecture. They are not intended to be a substitute for lecture attendance. These outlines are only core notes and they are NOT intended to be treated as stand alone resources nor in place of lecture attendance. They are provided for your convenience. You cannot rely on these outlines to the exclusion of the allocated reading tasks for each week. You are expected to prepare your own notes from the prescribed reading set out in this unit's Assessment Guide to supplement the material set out in the lecture outlines.

The tutorial questions for each class are also to be found in the unit's Assessment Guide. The tutorial questions have been designed to provide a practical application of the principles discussed in lectures. Tutorials will involve an analysis and discussion of preset questions based on the previous week's lecture. They therefore complement and consolidate the topics covered in lectures. It is essential that adequate preparation be undertaken BEFORE each tutorial in order for the full benefit to be gained.

Students - (including those enrolled in the i-Lecture stream) - will also be expected to participate in tutorials through the submission of hand-written responses (to the questions in Tutorials 2 - 10), contributing to class discussions, formal presentations during tutorials, and showing an interest in other learning activities conducted by the tutor.

Classes

- The timetable for classes can be found on the University web site at: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au/>
- Students can only change their allocated lecture or tutorial class by 6 December 2019 through the e-Student system and only when there is a vacancy in that class or lecture.
- If a student changes classes by 6 December 2019, it is their responsibility to inform both their old tutor and their new tutor. Failure to inform tutors about the change in class allocation may result in a student not obtaining all the class marks for which all students are eligible.
- You must attend your official tutorial class. Tutors will keep attendance records and you can only attend class or sit for the class presentation in your registered tutorial. Please ensure that you know your tutor's name and your tutorial number as this information is required to be noted on your weekly written presentation report is handed in at tutorials.
- Participation: Students are expected to attend and participate in all 9 tutorial classes during the session. Failure to do so will result in 0.5 marks per missed tutorial being deducted from the overall tutorial participation mark that would have been allocated to you.
- Students enrolled in the i-Lecture stream are expected to attend the all 9 tutorials and to participate in completing the "Assessed Coursework" components of this unit.
- In cases where classes have been missed because of illness or misadventure, it is up to the student to provide relevant documentation - (such as medical certificates or other reports) - explaining the reasons for their absence. The documentation must be lodged with BESS in accordance with the special consideration application procedure.
- Students are expected to arrive on time and not to leave until the class ends.
- If you have a recurring problem that makes you late, or compels you to leave early, have the courtesy to discuss this with your lecturer/tutor.
- Students who disturb or disrupt in lectures and tutorial class will be asked to leave.

Recommended Readings:

RECOMMENDED TEXTBOOKS

The acquisitions of the following are OPTIONAL. Students should consult the lecturer before making a purchase from books in this category.

Any of the following books may also be of use:

- Sadiq (Gen. Ed.), Coleman, Hanegbi, Hart, Jogarajan, Krever, McLaren, Obst, Ting, Principles of Taxation Law (Thomson Reuters, 2019).
- S Barkoczy, Australian Tax Casebook (14th edn, Oxford University Press, 2018).
- Hodgson, Mortimer, and Butler, Tax Questions & Answers 2019 (Thomson Reuters, 2019).

Note: It is pointless having an out of date edition of the textbook.

REFERENCE MATERIALS

While references to the prescribed weekly readings for this Unit are set from standard textbooks on taxation, references will also be made during the lectures to reported cases, rulings and other pronouncements issued by the Australian Taxation Office.

(a) Commentaries: Both CCH and Thomson Reuters provide an on-line service covering a commentary on the relevant legislation, rulings and reports and other pronouncements of the Australian Taxation Office. These on-line tax services are also available in multi-volume loose-leaf formats.

The on-line service of CCH can be accessed from the University Library's database.

(b) Useful Internet sites: Internet resources are a very valuable source of information relating to current developments on taxation issues. Some useful sites include:

Graduate Capabilities

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Develop a suitable set of tax management strategies for individuals and businesses at various stages;
- Work collaboratively to solve legal problems related to taxation; and
- Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Assessment tasks

- Assessed coursework
- Online Quiz
- Take-home Assignment
- Final Examination

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Develop a suitable set of tax management strategies for individuals and businesses at various stages;

- Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;
- Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Assessment tasks

- Assessed coursework
- Online Quiz
- Take-home Assignment
- Final Examination

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Develop a suitable set of tax management strategies for individuals and businesses at various stages;
- Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;
- Work collaboratively to solve legal problems related to taxation; and
- Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Assessment tasks

- Assessed coursework
- Online Quiz
- Take-home Assignment
- Final Examination

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify tax issues and be able to apply the provisions of relevant tax legislation to simulated real life situations for the purposes of giving professional advice;
- Develop a suitable set of tax management strategies for individuals and businesses at various stages;
- Use, present and evaluate numerical or statistical information related to taxation;
- Work collaboratively to solve legal problems related to taxation; and
- Undertake independent research on taxation issues through using electronic information retrieval systems.

Assessment tasks

Changes from Previous Offering

The two separate documents (i.e. - the Assessment Guide, and the Tutorial Guide), used in previous offerings of this unit have been merged into a single document - the Assessment Guide.

Research and Practice, Global and Sustainability

This unit addresses global and sustainability issues as direct areas of study and as necessary implications arising from the materials, assessment and academic discussion and debate in classes/seminars. We promote sustainability by developing ability in students to research and locate information within the accounting and legal disciplines. We aim to provide students with an opportunity to obtain skills which will benefit them throughout their career.

The unit materials have a reference list at the end of each chapter/module/text containing all references cited by the author. These provide some guidance to references that could be used to research particular issues.
