Unit description

Dispute resolution schemes now dominate the practice of law at many levels. This unit explores various types of dispute resolution processes with an emphasis on negotiation, mediation, conciliation, arbitration and restorative justice. The unit provides an overview of the theory, philosophy, process, ethical and legal issues involved in each of these methods of dispute resolution. Through experiential role plays, discussions and exercises, students will be introduced to the skills required to advise on and participate in conflict resolution and management.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Describe and critique the various types of dispute resolution processes in operation in

Australia and other jurisdictions

Demonstrate and apply the necessary skills required in alternative methods of resolving disputes, including in teams.

Identify and analyze the legal issues surrounding the practice of dispute resolution in Australia.

Evaluate the relevant ethical considerations in dispute resolution and management processes

Identify and apply the applicable dispute resolution process to the nature of the dispute and the participants in that dispute

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Class participation	10%	No	Ongoing
Negotiation Exercise	30%	No	Week 9
Dispute Resolution Report	30%	No	5pm 29 October 2019
Exam	30%	No	20 November 2019

Class participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 10%

Because of the skills development undertaken through the tutorial activities, the focus of this unit is on active engagement and participation.

Tutors will engage in ongoing assessment of student participation using the following criteria:

- a) Understanding of material: the student's participation in the activities is informed by an understanding of the unit materials (lectures, textbook reading and on-line resources).
- b) Reflection: the student is able to reflect on the activities undertaken and link this to the unit materials.
- d) Engaging with other students: the student engages with others in the class by taking an active role in discussions, role plays, debates and other activities assigned by the tutor. The student responds to others in the class by listening to them, providing constructive feedback and asking questions.
- e) Skills development: The student demonstrates a willing to develop their communication and negotiation skills.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe and critique the various types of dispute resolution processes in operation in Australia and other jurisdictions
- Demonstrate and apply the necessary skills required in alternative methods of resolving disputes, including in teams.
- Identify and analyze the legal issues surrounding the practice of dispute resolution in Australia.
- Evaluate the relevant ethical considerations in dispute resolution and management processes
- Identify and apply the applicable dispute resolution process to the nature of the dispute and the participants in that dispute

Negotiation Exercise

Due: Week 9

Weighting: 30%

Students will be paired together and required to conduct a face to face negotiation with another pair of students in relation to a scenario provided. The negotiation will be conducted over a 30 minute period.

The marker will observe the students conducting the negotiation and mark the assessment in accordance with the rubric provided on iLearn.

Times for the negotiation exercise will be arranged for Week 9 (including for external students), outside the regular lecture, tutorial and OCS times. Students need to make sure before the Census date that they can be available to complete this assessment task in week 9.

Full details about this assessment will be available in iLearn.

This is a timed assessment and students are required to be punctual for their allotted time. Any student who cannot attend their live negotiation must submit an application for special consideration via Ask.mq and notify the convenor via iLearn at the earliest opportunity so that an alternative time can be arranged.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate and apply the necessary skills required in alternative methods of resolving disputes, including in teams.
- Evaluate the relevant ethical considerations in dispute resolution and management processes

Dispute Resolution Report

Due: 5pm 29 October 2019

Weighting: 30%

The report builds on the negotiation exercise by requiring students to reflect on the negotiation exercise and then to explore another dispute resolution process suitable for resolving the dispute outlined in the negotiation scenario.

Full details about the assessment will be available in iLearn. The unit convenor moderates this assessment task.

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. Where a student has already submitted the assessment by the due time and date, they cannot resubmit during the late period.

All assessments in the unit are to be submitted electronically. Plagiarism detection software is used in this unit.

Word limits will be strictly applied and work above the word limit will not be marked.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify and analyze the legal issues surrounding the practice of dispute resolution in Australia.
- Evaluate the relevant ethical considerations in dispute resolution and management processes
- Identify and apply the applicable dispute resolution process to the nature of the dispute and the participants in that dispute

Exam

Due: 20 November 2019

Weighting: 30%

The exam will consist of 30 multiple choice questions relevant to the material from weeks 1-13 of the unit. Each question is worth 1 mark.

Length of exam: 60 minutes.

Time frame for completion: The exam will be open between 1 pm and 5 pm on 20 November 2019. Students can commence the exam any time in this period, but once the exam is opened the 60 minutes starts. It is not possible to pause the exam.

No late submissions will be accepted as this is a timed assessment.

This assessment task is based on a universal design principle, and has incorporated reasonable accommodations.

All answers will be automatically submitted once the time allocated for the quiz (60 mins) is completed.

Full details about this assessment will be available in iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe and critique the various types of dispute resolution processes in operation in Australia and other jurisdictions
- Identify and analyze the legal issues surrounding the practice of dispute resolution in Australia.
- Evaluate the relevant ethical considerations in dispute resolution and management processes
- Identify and apply the applicable dispute resolution process to the nature of the dispute and the participants in that dispute

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Describe and critique the various types of dispute resolution processes in operation in Australia and other jurisdictions
- Demonstrate and apply the necessary skills required in alternative methods of resolving disputes, including in teams.
- Identify and analyze the legal issues surrounding the practice of dispute resolution in Australia.
- Evaluate the relevant ethical considerations in dispute resolution and management processes
- Identify and apply the applicable dispute resolution process to the nature of the dispute and the participants in that dispute

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Negotiation Exercise

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate and apply the necessary skills required in alternative methods of resolving disputes, including in teams.

Assessment task

- Dispute Resolution Report

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate and apply the necessary skills required in alternative methods of resolving disputes, including in teams.
- Identify and analyze the legal issues surrounding the practice of dispute resolution in Australia.
- Identify and apply the applicable dispute resolution process to the nature of the dispute and the participants in that dispute

Assessment tasks

- Class participation

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
