Unit description

The Philosophy Capstone provides students with the opportunity to 'cap off' their philosophical education. Empowered with knowledge obtained from a variety of units undertaken throughout their degree, students are well positioned to critically reflect on what they have learned and the skills they have acquired, and to pose and address larger questions about the nature of philosophy and the philosophical method. Part of the unit will involve reflecting on the knowledge, skills and values furnished by a philosophical education and how these might translate into practice, including the workplace, facilitated through experiences with the PACE activity students undertake as part of this unit of study.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Identification of, and critical reflection on, the distinctive attributes acquired and developed during the philosophy degree, and how these relate to Graduate Capabilities.

Appreciation of the value and legitimacy of a range of philosophical approaches and traditions.

Enhanced reasoning and critical thinking skills.

Enhanced imaginative, creative and reflective abilities.

Enhanced ability to demonstrate precision of thought and expression in the analysis and formulation of complex and controversial problems, verbally and in writing.

Understanding of how to apply philosophical knowledge and skills to real life situations such as those experienced in the PACE activity.

General Assessment Information

Late Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
PACE Assignment	10%	Yes	Week 3
Poster	30%	No	Week 10
Poster Comments	10%	No	Week 11
Essay	30%	No	Week 13
Participation	20%	No	Ongoing

PACE Assignment

Due: Week 3

Weighting: 10%

This is a hurdle assessment task (see assessment policy for more information on hurdle assessment tasks)

The content of this assignment depends on how you have sourced your PACE activity. Students who have found their own PACE activity will write a summary of the work they intend to do, and an explanation of how it meets the aims of the unit. Students who apply for PACE activities that have been sourced by the PACE office, will need to submit a cover letter officially applying for the position along with a current curriculum vitae.

Successfully completing these documents and submitting copies on iLearn (in addition to the copies submitted to the PACE office) will earn you full marks for this assessment.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identification of, and critical reflection on, the distinctive attributes acquired and developed during the philosophy degree, and how these relate to Graduate Capabilities.
- Understanding of how to apply philosophical knowledge and skills to real life situations such as those experienced in the PACE activity.

Poster

Due: Week 10

Weighting: 30%

The poster presentation is a critical report on your PACE activity. Posters will be submitted in Voice Thread via the iLearn site.

Producing your poster and receiving feedback on this task from your peers will assist in the development of your essay.

This task will be assessed by the following criteria: clarity of presentation (visual and verbal), structure and content. A detailed rubric for this task will be supplied on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identification of, and critical reflection on, the distinctive attributes acquired and developed during the philosophy degree, and how these relate to Graduate Capabilities.
- Enhanced reasoning and critical thinking skills.
- Enhanced imaginative, creative and reflective abilities.
- Understanding of how to apply philosophical knowledge and skills to real life situations such as those experienced in the PACE activity.

Poster Comments

Due: Week 11

Weighting: 10%

You will review and comment on the presentations of 2 other students. You will be notified which presentations you will need to review by the beginning of Week 11, and you will submit your feedback on Voice Thread.

Reviewing the work of your peers will assist in honing your critical skills, scaffolding the learning of other students and the development of your final essay.

This task will be assessed by the following criteria: relevance of comments, how engaged and insightful these comments are, and how likely they are to contribute to the further development of your colleagues' work. A detailed rubric for this task will be supplied on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identification of, and critical reflection on, the distinctive attributes acquired and developed during the philosophy degree, and how these relate to Graduate Capabilities.
- Enhanced reasoning and critical thinking skills.
- Enhanced ability to demonstrate precision of thought and expression in the analysis and formulation of complex and controversial problems, verbally and in writing.
- Understanding of how to apply philosophical knowledge and skills to real life situations such as those experienced in the PACE activity.

Essay

Due: Week 13

Weighting: 30%

The essay (1500 words) is a scholarly reflection on your PACE activity.

The essay will help you identify and appreciate the distinctive skills you have developed as part of your philosophy major, and how they can be deployed in practical contexts such as the PACE activity.

This task will be assessed by the following criteria: content, structure, argument, critical analysis, written expression and referencing. A detailed rubric for this task will be supplied on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identification of, and critical reflection on, the distinctive attributes acquired and developed during the philosophy degree, and how these relate to Graduate Capabilities.
- Appreciation of the value and legitimacy of a range of philosophical approaches and traditions.
- Enhanced reasoning and critical thinking skills.
- Enhanced ability to demonstrate precision of thought and expression in the analysis and formulation of complex and controversial problems, verbally and in writing.
- Understanding of how to apply philosophical knowledge and skills to real life situations such as those experienced in the PACE activity.

Participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 20%

Participation for internal students will be assessed on the basis of your contributions to weekly seminar discussions. Your mark will reflect both the philosophical quality of your contributions and your engagement with your fellow students.

Participation for external students will be assessed on the basis of weekly contributions to iLearn discussion forums. Your mark will reflect the philosophical quality of your contributions, your engagement with your fellow students and the timeliness of your posts (they should be posted within a week of the relevant seminar).

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identification of, and critical reflection on, the distinctive attributes acquired and developed during the philosophy degree, and how these relate to Graduate Capabilities.
- Appreciation of the value and legitimacy of a range of philosophical approaches and traditions.
- Enhanced reasoning and critical thinking skills.
- Enhanced imaginative, creative and reflective abilities.
- Enhanced ability to demonstrate precision of thought and expression in the analysis and formulation of complex and controversial problems, verbally and in writing.
- Understanding of how to apply philosophical knowledge and skills to real life situations such as those experienced in the PACE activity.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
