Unit description

International business includes all business activities that involve business organisations from two or more countries. Although international business has many similarities with domestic business, there are significant differences which this unit examines. At an international level, managers must accommodate a highly complex environment. Key variables in this environment include: different currencies; different government policies concerning trade; subsidies and controls on foreign investment; as well as the variables that exist in any domestic environment such as competition, costs and customer characteristics. Topics examined in the unit include: forms of international business; the political and cultural context of international business; theories of international trade and investment; regional economic integration; and an introduction to multilateral institutions such as the IMF, the World Bank group and the World Trade Organisation.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Analyse the complexity, challenges, opportunities, changes and contrasts of the international business environment.

Identify and communicate the core principles of contemporary IB theory to international business development and practice as an individual and as part of a group.

Critically analyse and integrate literature on international business to communicate a rigorous argument.

Evaluate international business decisions, systems and/or policies in the context of ethical theories.

Academic Honesty

The nature of scholarly endeavour, dependent as it is on the work of others, binds all members of the University community to abide by the principles of academic honesty. Its fundamental principle is that all staff and students act with integrity in the creation, development, application and use of ideas and information. This means that:

- · all academic work claimed as original is the work of the author making the claim
- · all academic collaborations are acknowledged
- academic work is not falsified in any way
- when the ideas of others are used, these ideas are acknowledged appropriately.

Further information on the academic honesty can be found in the Macquarie University Academic Honesty Policy at http://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/academic_honesty/policy.html

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse the complexity, challenges, opportunities, changes and contrasts of the international business environment.
- Identify and communicate the core principles of contemporary IB theory to international business development and practice as an individual and as part of a group.
- Critically analyse and integrate literature on international business to communicate a rigorous argument.
- Evaluate international business decisions, systems and/or policies in the context of ethical theories.

Assessment tasks

- Group Report
- Presentation
- Final Examination

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse the complexity, challenges, opportunities, changes and contrasts of the international business environment.
- Identify and communicate the core principles of contemporary IB theory to international business development and practice as an individual and as part of a group.

- Critically analyse and integrate literature on international business to communicate a rigorous argument.
- Evaluate international business decisions, systems and/or policies in the context of ethical theories.

Assessment tasks

- Group Report
- Presentation
- Final Examination

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Identify and communicate the core principles of contemporary IB theory to international business development and practice as an individual and as part of a group.
- Critically analyse and integrate literature on international business to communicate a rigorous argument.
- Evaluate international business decisions, systems and/or policies in the context of ethical theories.

Assessment tasks

- Group Report
- Presentation
- Final Examination

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse the complexity, challenges, opportunities, changes and contrasts of the international business environment.
- Identify and communicate the core principles of contemporary IB theory to international business development and practice as an individual and as part of a group.
- Evaluate international business decisions, systems and/or policies in the context of ethical theories.
