Unit description

The principal aim of this unit is to provide students with an understanding of the main ethical issues raised by the activities of the business and corporate sphere, both in relation to the society and environment within which they operate, and in relation to individuals employed within corporations. The unit has a strong research focus and students will apply the theoretical knowledge gained in the course to real-world situations. This will equip them to engage with the complex ethical issues that will inevitably arise during the course of their careers.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Critical engagement with the major issues in contemporary business and professional ethics.

Critical engagement with the major ethical theories that have informed the development of the business ethics literature.

An ability to analyse and critically evaluate moral theories and arguments.

An ability to relate ethical theories to relevant business case studies and current events.

The ability to undertake qualitative research, including analysing previous literature and applying theoretical frameworks to a real-world business ethics issue.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
1. Assessed Coursework	20%	No	8am 4th March, then weekly
2. Class participation	10%	No	Ongoing
3. Essay proposal	15%	No	Week 6 (Monday)
4. Final Essay	55%	No	Week 10 (Pt 1); Week 12 (Pt 2)

1. Assessed Coursework

Due: 8am 4th March, then weekly

Weighting: 20%

Submission

Weekly assignments must be submitted on iLearn. Four (4) mini assignments will be marked in total, and one will be marked in the first three weeks of the session to provide students with early feedback on their performance.

Estimated student workload

Students are expected to spend 3-6 hours per week reviewing prescribed readings and preparing their weekly materials. These materials will be relevant for the 3 assignments.

Marking criteria

Refer to the ACCG 848 Assessment Guide, available on iLearn.

Deliverables

Written assignment.

Preparation instructions

Assignment questions will be posted on the unit webpage.

On the front page of each weekly assignment that you submit include the following:

- your student name
- your student number
- the following statement: "This assignment is my own work"
- the assignment number

Extension

No extensions will be granted. Students who have not completed the task by the due date will be awarded a mark of 0 for the task, except for cases in which an Application for Special Consideration is made and approved (in accordance with the policies and procedures).

Penalties

Late work will not be accepted.

Feedback

Feedback will be provided via an iLearn marking rubric.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critical engagement with the major issues in contemporary business and professional ethics.
- Critical engagement with the major ethical theories that have informed the development of the business ethics literature.
- An ability to analyse and critically evaluate moral theories and arguments.

2. Class participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 10%

Submission

Active participation is expected of ACCG 848 students as discussion is an essential part of developing ethical sensitivity and skill. Seminars should be used by students to test their understanding of the unit in an environment where immediate feedback is available from the convenor and students should be well prepared for seminars. Students should be engaged with the issues relevant to the seminar and be involved in seminar activities, particularly, responding to, and asking, questions – being active is an important aspect of both study and professional practice and seminars will be of more benefit to all students if each individual is willing to participate.

Estimated student workload

Students are expected to spend approximately 2 hours re-reading their assignment and related materials before attending class.

Marking criteria

Refer to the ACCG 848 Assessment Guide, available on iLearn.

Extension and penalties

A specific penalty applies where a student misses seminars unless a Special Consideration application is approved. For example if a student attends less than 50% of the allotted seminars the total available mark for seminar participation will be reduced by 50%.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critical engagement with the major issues in contemporary business and professional ethics.

- Critical engagement with the major ethical theories that have informed the development of the business ethics literature.
- An ability to analyse and critically evaluate moral theories and arguments.

3. Essay proposal

Due: Week 6 (Monday)

Weighting: 15%

Submission

The essay proposal must be submitted via iLearn and will be reviewed by Turnitin.

Estimated student workload

Students are expected to spend approximately 10 hours developing their essay proposal.

Marking criteria

Refer to the ACCG 848 Assessment Guide, available on iLearn.

Deliverables

Essay Proposal document (including coversheet).

Preparation instructions

Refer iLearn.

Extension and penalties

No extensions will be granted unless a Special Consideration application has been approved. Late submissions be penalised with a deduction of 10% of the total marks for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission = 20% of marks deducted).

Feedback

Feedback will be provided via an iLearn marking rubric.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critical engagement with the major ethical theories that have informed the development of the business ethics literature.
- An ability to analyse and critically evaluate moral theories and arguments.
- An ability to relate ethical theories to relevant business case studies and current events.
- The ability to undertake qualitative research, including analysing previous literature and applying theoretical frameworks to a real-world business ethics issue.

4. Final Essay

Due: Week 10 (Pt 1); Week 12 (Pt 2)

Weighting: 55%

Submission

The essay must be submitted via iLearn and Turnitin.

Estimated student workload

Students are expected to spend approximately 40 hours developing their essay.

Marking criteria

Refer to the ACCG 848 Assessment Guide, available on iLearn.

Deliverables

Written essay (including coversheet).

Preparation instructions

Refer iLearn.

Extensions and Penalties

No extensions will be granted unless a Special Consideration application has been approved. Late submissions be penalised with a deduction of 10% of the total marks for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission = 20% of marks deducted).

Feedback

Final essay feedback will be provided via an iLearn marking rubric. As the essay is the equivalent of the final exam, this feedback will only become available after the final grades for the unit have been released.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critical engagement with the major ethical theories that have informed the development of the business ethics literature.
- An ability to analyse and critically evaluate moral theories and arguments.
- An ability to relate ethical theories to relevant business case studies and current events.
- The ability to undertake qualitative research, including analysing previous literature and applying theoretical frameworks to a real-world business ethics issue.

Delivery and Resources

Classes and schedule

ACCG 848 utilises a combination of video lectures and class seminars. Lecture videos will be posted on iLearn. For class times, refer to the Macquarie University timetable.

Required and Remmended Texts and/or Materials

The prescribed text for this unit is:

Joseph DesJardins An Introduction to Business Ethics (5th Edition), (McGraw-Hill, New York, 2014)

The material in this text is fundamental to the concepts covered in the unit and should be read carefully.

The following text may also be helpful to students that wish to deepen their understanding of business and professional ethics:

Grace, D. & Cohen, S., Business Ethics (4th edition), (Oxford University Press, Melbourne, 2010).

Teaching and Learning Activities

This unit provides an opportunity for students to research an ethical issue of their choosing after providing some background in moral theory. Having obtained an understanding of the basic moral theories in the first half of the semester, students will select an individual topic to via an essay proposal. They will then develop this proposal into a full essay, submitted in two parts during the semester.

On average the unit will require students to complete between 6 to 8 hours of private study per week.

Technology Used and Required

The unit web page can be accessed from ilearn.mq.edu.au. Please note that student activity on the unit web page is logged, and may be utilised by the Unit. Convenor and other University staff in resolving student disputes regarding such issues as assignment submission. Instructions for obtaining help with accessing the unit web page can also be found at the above URL.

Requirements to satisfactorily complete the unit

Satisfactory completion of ACCG 848 is an overall passing grade. There is no requirement to achieve a passing grade in each individual assessment component. However, since each assessment component contributes to the overall learning outcomes of the unit, students are expected to complete each assessment task in order to maximise their educational experience.

Changes from Previous Offering

Weekly assignments have been split into 'submission' and 'discussion' questions. The final essay has been split into two parts with staggered submission dates to help ensure it does not become a last minute rush. Additional suggested topics have been added to reflect recent business ethics issues such as the Financial Services Royal Commission.

Research and practice

ACCG 848 makes extensive use of contemporary research in business ethics, including research by Associate Professor Hazelton, the Unit Convenor. The unit also examines contemporary practices in business ethics and requires students to examine a contemporary business ethics issue as their research topic. The unit provides students with a grounding in qualitative research methods appropriate to examining an ethical issue through gaining an understanding of various ethical frameworks and how to apply these frameworks in practice. Students are also required to engage with contemporary academic literature and ultimately produce work which can be used as a basis for further academic research. The unit promotes a global outlook as examples throughout the unit are from a variety of countries and students may choose an international topic to research. Sustainability principles are also considered in the unit and a sustainability-related topic may be chosen as the focus of the final essay.
