Unit description

The unit will focus on an in-depth reading of foundational texts in the history of philosophy and will examine their impact on current debates in the field. Each year 3 key texts will be selected for study from ethics, metaphysics and epistemology, and European philosophy. Texts may include: Aristotle's Nicomachean Ethics, Hume's Enquiry, Kant's Groundwork of the Metaphysics of Morals, Hegel's Phenomenology of Spirit, Wittgenstein's Philosophical Investigations, Millikan's Language, Thought and other Biological Categories.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Acquire a coherent and advanced knowledge of the methodology, concepts and arguments of philosophy

Synthesise and analyse information from a variety of sources concerning foundational concepts and arguments in philosophy

Analyse and critically evaluate philosophical arguments

Work in cooperation with others to analyse, communicate, criticise, and develop seminal ideas in philosophy
